RALPH McGILL

The Moving Finger Writes

Men of his own party rose from the soft leather of the long benches to shake fingers at him, to shout and protest. . . .

They reminded him that he had said, years ago, he did not take office to preside over the dissolution of the British empire . . . now, they cried, he was letting another little bit of it trickle through his fingers.

Across the way, also on soft leather benches, the Labor Party members laughed and smiled . . . they were on the side of the portly, pink-faced man. They could have seized the opportunity to call for a vote and thereby have brought an abrupt end to the Churchill government.

They knew that. And they savored the morsel of that moment and that prospect. But, they supported him and his government stayed.

The British will, within about two years, withdraw all troops from the Suez Canal, turning operation of it over to Egypt. . . .

So it is that a little bit more of the empire is gone, even as the angry die-hard Tories said.

Winston Churchill replied, with truth, the base was no longer of key importance since an atomic weapon could erase it and wreck the canal in a matter of moments.

Force

But, what he did not mention was that a force already more permanently powerful than "the bomb" is at work. That force is the revolution of peoples against colonial rule—an insistence on self-determination. Woodrow Wilson understood it a long time ago—the self-determination of peoples.

Egypt wants, to govern and control the Suez Canal — even though it is the product of the imagination, initiative and enterprise of another people and another civilization. This does not seem quite fair to some peoples—in the civilizations which have progressed, wrought and achieved. And, perhaps, from the technical viewpoint it is not equitable. But, there is no stopping it.

All over the earth the long-dominated "natives," "colonials" and "wards" are demanding not merely canals, independence and territory but the better things of life which the "advanced" civilizations and peoples have developed. They will give up even bread to attain self-determination.

Their attitude is more often than not arrogant, unreasonable, overly sensitive and ridiculously egotistical. But, the moving finger does indeed move on once it has written . . . and Winston Churchill is not blind. (We, as the most powerful nation of our time, must realize we inspire fear as well as friendship.)

The Canal

Herodotus, the historian, who was an excellent maker of phrases, said that Egypt itself was "the gift of the Nile." All that it has in good land and history developed out of the rich delta deposited by the river . . . the second longest in the world.

It has been the Suez Canal which has shaped its modern history. Cut from the northern tip of the Isthmus of Suez to the gulf of the same name (it was completed in 1869), it was the end of an old dream. A Pharaoh or so, Darius, Alexander the Great, and the Romans, all worked at small canals.

The present one was built by a French company.

In 1875 the British obtained control by buying the shares of the Khedive of Egypt, Ismail Pasha. To put it bluntly, the Khedive, who was a man whose dissipations no doubt distressed Mohammed, his prophet, was broke. The French knew this and sought to obtain the shares at a cut rate. The British offered more. In 1882 the British moved in to put down a rebellion. Since that time British troops have been in Egypt. In World War II Britain undertook to defend Egypt—King Farouk being pro-German. Since war's end, and especially since the revolution removed Farouk from his throne, agitation for removal of the troops has increased. Now the new republic has accomplished it by treaty.

The moving finger of history has written—and moved on.

GEA Rally Due To Hear Candidates

By DERICK DANIELS

Georgia's nine candidates for governor will get a chance to lay their political cards on the table for the state's school teachers Aug. 11 at the Georgia Educational Association's leadership workshop in Dahlonega.

J. Harold Saxon, GEA executive secretary, said Friday that eight candidates have accepted invitations to appear.

(Other political stories on Page 9.)

More than 400 presidents and chairmen of local GEA units are due to be on hand to hear five-minute talks from each candidate.

Candidates kept the political cauldron seething Friday.

PLACE FOR GOWEN

Lt. Gov. Marvin Griffin, addressing a crowd at Dahlonega, turned back the covers of what he calls Georgia's "strange political bed" and made a place for candidate Charles Gowen.

Gowen's bedmates, he said, are Tom Linder, Fred Hand, Roy Harris, Jim Cox, M. E. Thompson, Ellis Arnall and Ralph McGill.

Griffin made a bid for votes in tourist-minded highland sections, saying that if he is elected he will open up the mountains as the "playground of Georgia."

Candidate M. E. Thompson, also shooting for votes in north Georgia, said he would have the toll road authority law repealed and concentrate on free highways for tour ts to see the state.

RADIO TALKS

Fred Hand made two radio talks at Thomaston and shook hands with textile workers. He renewed his attacks on Griffin and Thompson.

Charlie Gowen threw a new punch at Thompson in a talk at Ellaville. "The great arithmetic teacher (Thompson) is trying to prove he has a chance to win," Gowen said. "I suggest that Melvin get out his old copybook and take a look at the old adage 'don't count your chickens before they hatch'."

The Forsyth County (Cumming) News announced endorsement of Griffin as did State Sen. T. E. (Buddy) Kennedy of Ashburn. Griffin's headquarters reported. Hand's camp announced that the Rockmart Journal has endorsed him.

U.S. Airliner Reported In Sea With 72 Aboard

ROTTERDAM, Netherlands, Saturday, July 31 (AP)—Dirkswagers Shipping Agency today reported an American airliner is believed to have ditched in the North Sea with 72 persons aboard.

The agency distributed this message monitored from Scheveningen Radio:

"An American aircraft with four engines, a DC4 with 72 occupants, probably ditched into the sea on a line with Amsterdam and Dundee. Left Amsterdam at 11:08 p.m. GMT July 30 (6:08 p.m. EST)."

The broadcast said last radio contact with the plane was at 12:37 a.m. It asked all ships in the vicinity to keep a sharp lookout.

U.S. Air Force headquarters in London said it had received no word of any such plane missing.

Navy Cruiser In Collision

POINTE AU PERE, Que., July 30 (AP)—The U.S. Navy cruiser Pittsburgh collided with the British freighter Slaney in the fog-shrouded St. Lawrence River tonight. First reports said two merchant seamen were injured.

4 Are Arrested In Stabbing at Cab Stand Here

A 27-year-old Atlantan stabbed in the throat, chest and stomach late Friday afternoon was reported in "fair" condition at Grady Hospital.

Detectives M. A. Johnson and M. W. Blackwell said four persons have been charged with suspicion of assault with intent to murder in the stabbing of J. W. Standridge of 754 Grand Ave., NW, in a fight outside a cab stand at Bankhead and Hollywood Rd., NW.

The detectives listed the four as Dick Boland, 24, of 937 Rice St., NW; George Gant, 22, of 1823 Settle Cir., SE; Howard Anderson, 23, of 536 West Anthony St., NW, and L. M. Smith, 27, of a hotel on Ivy street.

Folsom Due To Testify in Vote Probe

By JACK NELSON
Constitution Staff Writer

PHENIX CITY, July 30 — Alabama Governor-nominate James E. Folsom is expected to testify Monday before a Jefferson County Grand Jury investigating vote fraud and its possible link to the murder in Phenix City of Albert L. Patterson.

Folsom has agreed to "cooperate fully" with the grand jury, his press secretary, Ralph Hammond, said in a telephone interview from Cullman.

Hammond indicated that Folsom would appear before the jury voluntarily, not under subpoena. Contacted at a Birmingham hotel, Folsom told newsmen he did not care to comment on his expected appearance before the jury.

STICK TO THEORY

State investigators in Phenix City Friday apparently were leaning heavily on the theory that there is some connection between the vote fraud and the murder.

Acting Atty. Gen. Bernard Sykes said he had questioned Frank Long of Jasper about a phone call that Atty. Gen. Si Garrett received in a hotel suite in Birmingham near the time of the murder on the night of June 18. Long, state president of the League of Young Democrats, was reported to have been in the suite when Garrett received the call.

The call reportedly was placed from Phenix City by Arch Ferrell, solicitor of the Russell County circuit.

SUPPORTED PORTER

Garrett, Ferrell, and Lamar Reid of Birmingham are under indictment, charged with altering the official result sheet of the June 1 primary in which Patterson defeated Lee Porter for nomination as attorney general.

Folsom supported Porter in the runoff against Patterson.

Sykes emphasized that his Fri-

Ike, Rhee Ask United, Free Korea

Force Avoided In Joint Statement

WASHINGTON, July 30 (AP)—President Eisenhower and South Korean President Syngman Rhee called tonight for continued efforts to achieve a unified, democratic and independent Korea.

In a 300-word joint statement issued at the close of Rhee's five-day visit here, the two chiefs of state said they had engaged in a "fruitful and cordial exchange of views" on Korean problems.

The statement did not spell out whether they had reached accord on such matters as Rhee's request for increased U.S. military and economic aid to build up his country's armed forces.

Nor did it mention Rhee's proposals, outlined at speeches during his stay in the capital, for more drastic efforts to liberate China from Red domination.

RETURNED TO U.N.

American sources said the promise to continue efforts to reunify Korea means the problem will again be placed before the United Nations when the General Assembly meets for its ninth session in September.

Rhee's signature on the joint statement was taken to mean that the 79-year-old Korean leader has agreed to go along with this approach, at least for the time being.

Strengthening this belief was Rhee's own admission in a speech earlier today that his plans for clearing the Reds out of North Korea by force may be "premature."

"COUNTERATTACK"

When he addressed a joint session of Congress Wednesday, Rhee called for a "counterattack" on Red China by South Korean ground forces assisted by U.S. air and sea power.

This phase of his talk drew a chilly response from congressmen and the administration and Rhee adopted a far more moderate tone when he addressed the Overseas Writers Club today.

He told the newsmen he did not intend to leave the impression that South Korea wants the United States to fight a preventive war with Red China.

All he was urging, Rhee said, was that the United States make liberation of China from Communist domination a part of permanent American foreign policy.

McCarthy's Abuses Rob Nation of Honor, Flanders Tells Senate

Says Prober Abuses Fifth Amendment

By HERBERT FOSTER

WASHINGTON, July 30 (AP)—Sen. Ralph E. Flanders tonight denounced Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy to his face on the Senate floor as a "Fifth Amendment senator" who lacks "human decency." Flanders asked that the Senate formally censure McCarthy, touching off an angry debate.

Senate Republican leader William F. Knowland immediately threw the full weight of his position against Flanders' proposal.

Flanders, with McCarthy seated only 20 feet away, told a packed Senate chamber that the Wisconsin Republican has shown contempt of the Senate, abused individual rights and compromised the nation's honor.

LISTENS IMPASSIVELY

McCarthy listened impassively to Flanders' denunciation and the praise other senators gave him for his fight on communism.

While the debate raged, he quietly read a newspaper at times. Once he scribbled a note and sent it of by page for delivery.

McCarthy said nothing during the debate, and after it was over he declined to make any comment about it. He smiled and appeared jovial in the chamber as several Republican senators came up to shake hands with him.

Knowland, who announced he would vote against Flanders' resolution to censure McCarthy, cut off debate and recessed the Senate at 10:15 p.m., after two hours and 37 minutes of defense and attacks on McCarthy. The debate will resume at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

AID BILL SIDETRACKED

The Senate debate on McCarthy sidetracked the final passage of a $3,110,000,000 foreign aid bill. The pending bill was displaced when Flanders made the motion to censure McCarthy.

The outlook appeared good that the bill providing about 10 per cent less in spending authority than the administration had sought would be approved in much the same form as it left committee.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill) was the last of a half dozen sena-

U.S., British To Merge On Missiles

By BENJAMIN WELLES
New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

LONDON, July 30—The United States has now approved British proposals for very close collaboration in the development of guided weapons.

The new partnership now planned between the two leading technological nations of the free world is expected to cut at least two years from the development time of radar-guided missiles that will inevitably replace man-piloted aircraft.

Both Britain and the United States have been separately developing their own ranges of guided weapons from basic designs captured in Germany during the war and improved in each of the victor countries, often with the aid of German scientists.

SOVIET WEAPONS

The Soviet Union is now known to have dangerously effective guided weapons of its own and, as one expert here put it, "we know that they can build as well as we can. We are ahead of them technically—and we have just got to keep our lead."

Hitherto, the United States has poured enormous sums of money into production of guided missiles. Some has undoubtedly been wasted but both the "Wac Corporal" and "Honest John" weapons are ready for use—with relative accuracy—on the battlefield.

The U.S. Air Force, too, has its pilotless Matador squadrons already assigned to North Atlantic treaty units in Europe. They are in the first stage—but they are highly regarded by experts here.

ONLY HOUR AWAY

Britain, with less money, has since the war concentrated its scientific and production experts onto basic research. This policy is now said to have "paid off." British guided weapons are now at hand and are said to be singularly effective.

Britain is only an hour's flying time from the latest Soviet bomber bases in East Germany, and she

ASKS OVER-ALL POWER
Gen. Ridgway

Ridgway Raps Atom Dependency

New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

HARRIMAN, N.Y., July 30—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway delivered an indirect but obvious warning here today against basing the entire military strategy of the United States on nuclear weapons.

The Army's Chief of Staff insisted that the key to military victory still is land power. Ridgway cautioned against becoming "over-committed" to a strategy that might destroy life and industry in the enemy's home territory but would leave his combat forces "relatively unhampered."

SPEAKS AT ASSEMBLY

The general spoke at the opening meeting of the Fifth American Assembly, organized by President Eisenhower when he headed Columbia University as a method of getting individual Americans to do some intensive thinking and talking about basic problems facing the United States.

This weekend about 60 men prominent in U.S. business, education, labor and diplomacy are getting together to exchange ideas on the U.S. stake in the United Nations.

Ridgway never used the words "atomic bomb" or "hydrogen bomb" but his whole speech amounted to an appeal not to put all the U.S. military eggs in the nuclear basket.

SIMPLE FORMULA

For centuries, the general said, experts have been looking for a simple formula to win wars other than defeating the enemy's armed forces. That there was no such method was the theme of his speech.

Ridgway said:

"On purely pragmatic grounds, therefore, if on no other, it would be an error of the greatest magnitude for any nations to become over-committed to a strategy, which, while designed to destroy or damage life and industry in its enemy's home territory, left that enemy's combat forces relatively unhampered."

Brownell Urges Rewards For Tips on Atomic Sabotage

WASHINGTON, July 30 (AP)—The administration asked Congress today to authorize rewards of up to $500,000 for tips on attempts by saboteurs to make "bootleg" atomic weapons or smuggle them into the United States.

The proposal reflects the growing concern in security agencies that enemy agents may be able to assemble smuggled atom bomb parts and transport the finished weapon without detection.

Recent warnings sent out by the FBI and Navy said "homemade" atomic devices small enough to fit the luggage compartment of a car can be put together in a "reasonably dry" place such as a basement.

The reward bill was sent to Congress by Atty. Gen. Brownell, who said it was recommended by the National Security Council, the nation's top defense policy group.

It would permit payment of up to $500,000 to persons who provide "original information" leading to the discovery of illegal nuclear material or weapons, or who provide information about the smuggling or manufacture of such weapons.

Aliens who supply such information would be admitted with their families to permanent residence in the United States. Government employes, however, would not be entitled to rewards.

The size of the rewards would be fixed by a board composed of the atomic energy commissioners, the attorney general and the secretary of defense.

Brownell said the bill, if enacted, would "materially strengthen the internal security of the United States by alerting the people . . . to the need for vigilance."

Airlines' Load Here Stepped Up As 1,200 Strike

More than 1,200 American Airlines pilots struck at 11:59 p.m. Friday, forcing other airlines across the country to reroute many east-west passengers.

Although the company does not have an Atlanta terminal, the strike was expected to increase the workload of the four commercial airlines operating at the Municipal Airport, particularly Delta-C and S.

Pilots of the strike-bound line normally operate Delta-C. and S. West Coast flights between Dallas, Texas, and Los Angeles.

Capt. F. J. Schwaemmle, director of information services for Delta-C. and S., said his company would do "everything possible to accomodate customers by rerouting through Chicago and other points." Spokesmen for other airlines said they would do all possible to aid travelers by re-routing them.

Red-Bound Physician's Ship Halted by British

LONDON, Saturday, July 31 (AP)—British police stopped and boarded a Polish freighter early today after it left London with American scientist Joseph Cort and his wife, who announced they would seek political asylum in Red Czechoslovakia.

The boarding officers stopped the freighter Jaroslaw Dabrowski at Woolwich Reach in the Thames River below London.

Scotland Yard refused to say why the ship was halted.

The police could have had at least two reasons for going aboard: To see the Corts or to investigate persistent reports that a Polish stowaway seeking asylum in England was being held aboard against his will.

Police and Home Office immigration men had visited the ship several times in the past week after longshoremen found a stowaway in a ship's hold.

The police had not shown any interest previously in the Corts, whose plight was aired in Parliament.

Parliament was told yesterday that the 26-year-old Bostonian and professed ex-Communist, who did not want to go home to explain his failure to report for the military draft, had been granted asylum by Czechoslovakia.

Cort said he studied at Harvard and at the Yale Medical School and was a member of the Communist Party for two years as a medical student, but got out in 1951.

Fair and Hot Due for Weekend

Mosty fair and continued hot weather is forecast for Atlanta over the weekend.

The weatherman said high temperature Saturday and Sunday would be 94, the low both days 72.

There is a chance of a shower Sunday afternoon, he said.

A garage and an automobile were destroyed at 1045 Glenwood Ave., SE, Friday night after lightning struck a nearby tree which ignited the building.

Atlanta received .77 of an inch of rainfall Friday night.

Drives 18 Miles on Wrong Side

CHEROKEE, Iowa, July 30 (AP) — George Hardyman, 66, drove a harrowing 18 miles down the wrong side of a busy highway when he suddenly lost the ability to tell left from right and didn't know it.

Police Chief Laurence Schmoldt said Hardyman forced 14 cars and a truck into the ditch during the trip yesterday, but no one was injured. Hardyman collapsed when he reached Cherokee and was taken to Sioux Valley Memorial Hospital.

Hardyman's doctor said today a blood vessel in the brain "sprang a small leak" and temporarily caused a complete reversal of sensation as to horizontal direction.

But he said his patient did not know what had happened and believed he was on the right side of the road all the time, although he was on the left.

"I still can't believe that anyone could have driven on the wrong side of the road for 18 miles on a busy highway and no one was hurt. But it happened," said the doctor, who asked not to be named.

Hardyman was in "comparatively good" condition today, he said.

The elderly man was stricken with the odd ailment when he was on Iowa Highway 5 about four miles out of Storm Lake, his home. The doctor said drivers following Hardyman reacted promptly to the situation and refused to allow anyone to pass, thereby helping to prevent accidents.

An unidentified station wagon driver somehow managed to swing around Hardyman and preceded him into Cherokee with his horn blaring to warn oncoming cars.

Hardyman's narrowest escape came when he drove down a long hill entering Cherokee, and hugged the left side of an embankment near a 100-foot drop.

He told his doctor that when another car honked he would crowd farther over to the left, thinking he was moving to the right.

AEC Report Shows Growing Stockpile

Hydrogen Arms Pushed After Successful Tests

By ELIE ABEL

New York Times News Service. Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, July 30—The Atomic Energy Commission reported good progress today in its efforts to assure the United States continued superiority over the Soviet Union in nuclear arms.

The national stockpile of atomic and hydrogen weapons is "growing rapidly in total numbers" as well as in variety and versatility, the commission said in its semiannual report to the Congress.

In guarded language, the commission indicated that its scientists were vigorously exploiting the new avenues opened by the successful hydrogen-bomb tests in the Marshall Islands last spring.

It said "a concerted development effort on thermonuclear (hydrogen) weapons" is under way, parallel with the progressive improvement of fission weapons since 1950.

FOR BATTLEFIELD USE

The growing stockpile reflects a continued increase in the United States inventory of atomic shells and bombs small enough to be used on the battlefield, in addition to weapons that could destroy a city behind the lines, the commission said.

It pointed out that development of a "family of weapons," graduated in size, had extended the usefulness of available fissionable materials.

The cost of these materials, which has been dropping steadily as more efficient methods of production are perfected, was further reduced in the first six months of this year, the commission said. Production rose sharply during this period as the Savannah River plant near Aiken, S.C., approached completion and some of its facilities started operating.

ATOM-POWERED PLANES

Research directed toward the development of a nuclear reactor that will drive an airplane also moved forward.

The AEC report said that work on the nuclear-fueled submarine Nautilus, launched last January, is almost complete and that a prototype of the power plant to be fitted into the second atomic submarine, the Sea Wolf, is "nearly completed."

On other aspects of its work the commission made these points:

1. The United States' capital investment in atomic energy production facilities now stands at $5,700,000,000. The total of appropriations is more than $12,000,000,000.

POWER PLANTS

2. More than $200,000,000 has been earmarked for construction of five experimental atomic power plants during the next five years. Although none of these plants is expected to produce power at a competitive price, there is a "reasonable expectation" that nuclear fuel will be cheap enough to compete with coal in the foreseeable future.

3. All of the 236 Marshall Islanders and 31 Americans exposed to radioactive particles from the larger-than-predicted hydrogen blast of March 1 have recovered. As for the crew members of the Japanese fishing trawler that also was in the "fall-out" path, they are improving satisfactorily.

4. It remains "unwise" to eat fish from Bikini and Eniwetok lagoons because of lingering radioactivity in the water, but fish taken outsidethese two lagoons are safe.

$200,000 Fire Makes Gooey Mess of Candy

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 30. (AP)—The works were gummed up at a candy company here today.

An estimated $200,000 worth of fudge and other candies was turned into a gooey mess by water when firemen doused a brief but spectacular blaze.

Charles Lang, sales manager for Bradas & Gheens Candy Co., estimated the loss.

Catholics Robbed in Viet Nam

HANOI, Indochina, July 30 (AP)—Vietnamese Catholics streaming into Hanoi ahead of Communist-led Vietminh occupation forces said today Red sympathizers had stripped many of their money and valuables.

"They stopped the trucks on the edge of the towns and climbed through them, taking our money and whatever else they saw that they wanted," declared one refugee of a 3,000-strong contingent from the Catholic belt between Bac Ninh, 18 miles northeast of Hanoi, and Phulang Thuong to the north.

By truck, bus, and on foot, the refugees began pouring into this crowded city last night in the first appearance of massed flight from the Red River Delta countryside since the cease-fire went into effect Tuesday.

Vietnamese officials here were apparently caught off guard. No preparations had been made for housing or feeding refugees.

American officials in south Viet Nam are already supplying medicine, food, 2,000 tents and roofing for 50,000 dwelling units, but that is only the beginning. Acting economic aid Director Paul Everett estimates the present 25 million dollars a year in U.S. aid will have to be quadrupled to help with resettlement.

Senate Likely To Reopen Probe Of Coffee Prices

WASHINGTON, July 30 (AP)—Sen. J. Glenn Beall (R-Md) said today his Senate banking subcommittee may reopen its investigation of coffee prices with the aim of recommending legislation.

He made the announcement in commenting on a Federal Trade Commission report which blamed "irregularities" in the coffee market for the recent jump in prices. Beall's subcommittee held hearings on coffee last winter.

Beall said the subcommittee staff will evaluate the FTC report.

Conant Offers Russia Food for E. Germany

BERLIN, July 30 (AP)—U.S. High Commissioner James B. Conant, in a note to the Russians today, offered food promised by President Eisenhower for flood victims in East Germany, where unrest is reported growing because of rising food shortages.

Conant, in a note to Soviet High Commissioner G. M. Pushkin, asked the Soviets to meet with the Americans to discuss handing over the food to East Germans.

Staples, such as bread and potatoes, are so scarce that a flare-up against the Red regime is possible if the Soviets and the Communist East German officials turn down President Eisenhower's offer of food to flood sufferers in East Europe, Western sources said.

However, Western officials agreed that despite the admitted shortages the Reds would refuse Mr. Eisenhower's offer as they did a similar one last year.

Conant in his note quoted the text of the President's food offer. Then he added:

"In accordance with the above statement my staff will hold itself ready to discuss the means by which assistance of the type referred to above can be made available to the people of the Soviet Zone of Germany."

The East German Communists admit a shortage of flour and flour products. Western sources said that potatoes, the mainstay of the East German diet, also are in short supply.

Jealous-Mate Angle Hushed At Inquest

PHOENIX, Ariz., July 30—(AP)—A coroner's jury ruled today "a gunshot wound in the chest" caused the death of Vernon Donn Frederick, and found that the oil-heiress wife of his next-door neighbor drowned when her sleek convertible careened into a canal.

The panel failed to fix blame in the fatal shooting of the 38-year-old town councilman for the Phoenix suburb of Scottsdale. William E. Demand, 35, photo shop operator, was charged yesterday with first degree murder in the death of Frederick, described as a "very close friend."

Testimony at the inquest was limited to terse statements on what caused the deaths of Mrs. Faye Munger Demand, wife of the suspect, and Frederick.

Justice of the Peace Ben Fox heard testimony first on the woman's death.

The inquest still left obscured important details of the case. Investigating officers have declined to report on any evidence, and no motive had been alleged.

Yesterday, Maricopa County Atty. William P. Mahoney Jr. referred to an allegation that Demand was known to be jealous. However, there was no further expansion on the statement.

George, Russell Give No Hint of Vote on M'Carthy

Constitution Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, July 30—Neither Sen. George nor Sen. Russell was prepared to say today what position he will take on the pending resolution by Sen. Ralph Flanders of Vermont to censure Sen. Joe McCarthy of Wisconsin.

"I think we will listen to the discussion on the Flanders resolution before deciding what we will do," Sen. George said.

He added, however, that he would not vote for a substitute motion such as has been proposed for sending the whole issue of "McCarthyism" to a special committee for study and report before the Senate acts.

Ailor Promoted

Former Atlanta Alderman Roscoe Ailor received word Friday that his son, R. Jack Ailor, has been promoted to the rank of Major. Maj. Ailor, a native Atlantan, is stationed with the Fifth Infantry Division in Germany. Ailor, who resides at 866 Boulevard, NE, served as an alderman from 1945 to 1953.

Eisenhowers, Grandchildren Leave for Camp

THURMONT, Md., July 30 (AP)—President and Mrs. Eisenhower and their three grandchildren today drove to Camp David in Maryland's Catoctin Mountains for a weekend away from Washington's oppressive heat.

Mr. and Mrs. Eisenhower rode in the presidential limousine and the three youngsters, accompanied by a nurse, in another car.

The children's parents, Maj. and Mrs. John S. Eisenhower, joined the family later in the day.

Quit Korea, Red Truce Aides Told

SEOUL, July 30 (AP)—A government official close to President Syngman Rhee served public notice on the Communist members of the neutral nations' armistice commission today to get out of South Korea.

"Appropriate measures" will be taken against the Polish and Czechoslovak members of the commission if they ignore the warning that "we will not allow them to remain in this country any longer," the official said.

DELAYED ARMISTICE

He was Lt. Gen. Won Yong Duk, provost marshal and close associate of Rhee generally regarded as the man who carries out the president's less pleasant assignments. He handled the release of the anti-Communist prisoners from Allied camps in June, 1953, thus delaying the armistice.

A spokesman for the United Nations' Command said Won's statement was being studied, and a statement might be issued later. It was expected to reaffirm the U.N. commitment to protect the neutral teams in South Korea.

The spokesman noted that the U.S. 8th Army last month issued an order to provide the neutral teams with "maximum protection against hostile persons." He said he knew of no special significance in the timing of the order.

STATEMENT

Won handed a written statement to the press saying that the four-nation neutral commission automatically lost its jurisdiction with the failure of the Korean conference at Geneva.

Religious Rioting Hurts 44 in Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon, July 30 (AP)—Forty-four persons were injured—at least five seriously—in a religious riot today.

The rioting, in which Moslem demonstrators exchanged shots with police, followed a two-day strike which closed most shops and bazaars.

Flanders Opens Debate On McCarthy Censure

tors to make formal speeches on the censure resolution. He praised McCarthy for his anti-Communist work and said "Senator Flanders and the Daily Worker are on the same side."

McCarthy shook hands with Dirksen, thanked him for the defense and congratulated him on a "fine speech."

Flanders attempted to regain the floor to answer Dirksen. But Knowland said many senators wished to be heard and he could not permit one to talk without permitting many.

Sen. Wayne Morse (Ind-Ore) came out against Flanders' censure motion. He said the Senate should bring McCarthy to trial on a specific bill of particulars—"and do it before we adjourn this session."

As the moment for the dramatic McCarthy-Flanders showdown finally arrived, informed sources reported that GOP leaders had decided to try to knock down all substitutes to the Vermont Republican's resolution.

A record vote on the proposal would force all senators to take a public stand for or against censure.

Sen. Guy Cordon (R-Ore) urged the Senate to refer the matter to a committee. He said the Senate had "no specifications" against McCarthy except those outlined by the 73-year-old Flanders.

Knowland also complained that the resolution was an attempt to condemn a senator without formal charges and without committee consideration. He said that "what is properly a judicial decision will be made at white heat in a political body."

"The Senate has the responsibility and individual members cannot escape their share for what is done," he said.

In a scathing speech heard by almost the entire Senate membership and about 600 spectators, Flanders termed McCarthy a "Fifth Amendment senator" so lacking in "human decency" that he abused an honored general and accused persons of communism without proof.

The balding Vermonter also renewed his comparison of McCarthy with the dictators of Russia and Nazi Germany. There are "three who cannot be appeased . . . Hitler, the Kremlin and the senator," Flanders asserted.

Morse sharply objected to Flanders' "very general accusation" against McCarthy and warned the Senate against adopting "lynch law" — ignoring "the procedural rights of the guilty as well as the innocent."

Morse said there are "plenty" of reasons for censuring McCarthy.

Dr. Sheppard Arrested After Cleveland Prodding

BAY VILLAGE, O., July 30 (AP)—Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard was arrested late today and charged with the first-degree murder of his wife, Marilyn, on July 4.

Village police picked him up less than an hour after Law Director Richard N. Weygandt issued the murder warrant. He offered no resistance as they handcuffed him at the home of his father. Dr. Richard Sheppard Sr., and took him to the Village Hall. Council President Gresham Barber handled the formality of binding him over to the grand jury.

Mayor J. Spencer Houk was ineligible to preside because he was a material witness in the case.

FACES QUESTIONING

Police took the 30-year-old osteopathic brain surgeon to county jail, where he will face police questioning and wait to see whether the grand jury will indict him. There is no bond for first-degree murder in Ohio.

Preliminary hearings will be held Aug. 7.

Weygandt issued the warrant after days of studying the evidence and talking over the case with Mayor Houk. He responded to prodding from Cleveland authorities by saying he would "not be stampeded."

Mayor Anthony Celebrezze of Cleveland said Cleveland police probably would drop their investigation after Bay Village arrested the doctor, the No. 1 suspect in the slaying.

CLOSE NEIGHBORS

Houk faced the difficult decision of assenting to the arrest of his close friend, whose house stands on the shore of Lake Erie only three doors away from his own. The Houks and the Sheppards had frequently visited each other and the two men owned a small aluminum boat in common.

Police Chief Frank Story of Cleveland had urged the arrest, although he said he wasn't sure there was enough evidence to convict. Detective Chief James E. McArthur also urged Bay Village officials to pick up Dr. Sheppard, if only for the opportunity of questioning him at length.

The status of Miss Susan Hayes, 24, of Los Angeles, was still undetermined but it appeared she would be a key state witness if the grand jury returned an indictment.

She formerly was a laboratory technician at Bay View Hospital, where Dr. Sheppard is a staff member.

Mrs. Sheppard died under a barrage of savage blows from a weapon that has not yet been found. Coroner Samuel R. Gerber said she had suffered at least 27 crushing strokes on her skull.

Sykes said that lie detector tests given to at least 12 persons have aided the murder investigation.

In Birmingham, Mayor Elmer Reese of Phenix City said he would comment "when the time comes" on charges by Phenix City Police Chief Pal Daniel he ordered police to leave gambling places alone.

Mayor Reese was in Birmingham to observe action of the State Democratic Executive Committee on recommendations to void nominations of Ferrell, Russell County Sheriff Ralph Mathews and Rep.-Nominate William R. Belcher.

In another development here a witness in the murder case was jailed.

The witness, John Deese, who served as assistant jailer of Russell County until military rule was invoked last week, was reportedly being held in protective custody.

Outdoor Ad Ban Draws Protest

By MARJORY SMITH

Representatives of advertising and other industries in the Greater Atlanta area Friday registered a vigorous protest against restrictions on outdoor advertising and signs which would be set up here by a proposed new Atlanta-Fulton zoning ordinance.

Proposed restrictions in areas zoned for neighborhood and community shopping centers would result in loss of revenue to many businesses, advertising spokesmen warned in a hearing before the Municipal Planning Board.

Henry Troutman, attorney representing the General Outdoor Advertising Co., submitted to the board "a less stringent set of regulations" as a possible replacement for those made in the Bartholomew study.

The study, a zoning survey made by a St. Louis engineering firm, includes provisions regulating size, locations and use of advertising signs in proposed new "C-1" and "C-2" areas zoned for neighborhood business.

No restrictions would be set on advertising in the downtown business area under the Bartholomew plan.

J. B. Browder, representative of Georgia Power Co., told the board the plan's "discrimination against illumination" in advertising signs could cost Georgia Power Co. $150,000 a year. A resulting loss in the 3 per cent franchise tax the company pays would "hurt Atlanta," he declared.

J. O. Moore, president of the Atlanta Federation of Trades, said half of the skilled workers who put up and maintain advertising signs would lose their jobs if the proposed ordinance goes through as it now stands. He estimated a resulting $13,000 weekly drop in payrolls in this area.

R. M. Mundell, representative of the Georgia Association of Petroleum Dealers, told the board 80 per cent of that industry's signs now in use "would have to be destroyed" under the proposed new restrictions.

David Goldwasser, spokesman for the Atlanta Advertising Club, and Hixon Kinsella, representative of the Southeastern chapter of the American Association of Advertising Agencies, presented resolutions passed by their groups opposing the plan.

$11,400 in Contracts

Two new contracts totalling $11,400 have been awarded for the purchase of traffic signal equipment for the city. The city purchasing department, acting upon recommendation of Karl Bevins, city traffic engineer, awarded Eagle Signal Corp. of Moline, Ill., a $4,026 contract and the Noland Co. of Atlanta a $7,374 contract.

ROK Force Reported On Jap-Claimed Island

By LINDESAY PARROTT

New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

TOKYO, July 30—Japanese sources said today that South Koreans had seized and occupied the Takeshima Islands in the Japan Sea to which title has long been in dispute between the two nations.

Two Japanese patrol boats cruising near Takeshima saw half a dozen Koreans at work on Mishi Island, one of two rocky islets which make up the Takeshima group. The men wore a uniform of white shirts and green trousers and apparently were guards sent by the Republic of Korea to make good its claim to Takeshima, the Japanese Maritime Safety Board reported.

It was not apparent whether the men were armed, the report said, but evidently they intended to make some stay on the island. A large tent had been erected on what looked like a permanent foundation, the coast guardsmen said, and on the northern side of Mishi a large sign had been erected with the legend: "Republic of Korea, Seventh District, Civil Administration Department."

The Japanese made no attempt to land, according to the maritime board, but the patrol boats circled the island, broadcasting through their public address systems that the islands were Japanese territory. To this the Koreans paid no attention.

The Japanese visit was made on July 28 by two patrol ships.

Every Georgia City Needs Tax Revision

Appearing as a spokesman for the Georgia Municipal Association, which includes all cities, large and small, in the state, Mayor William B. Hartsfield of Atlanta laid down an indisputable, inescapable truth.

It is, that the basic tax laws of this and all other states were established early in our history when cities were small and not called upon to render services in sanitation, recreation, health, welfare, hospitalization, and so on. Nor were they called upon to create and maintain large police forces, and all the expensive, modern equipment needed by such departments. The nation was rural. Most of its people lived on farms and in semi-rural communities.

This is no longer true.

Today, most of the people in Georgia—and in the United States—live in urban or city communities. There is no municipality, however small, which is not plagued with tax troubles because of the services it must render.

Farmers and those legislators who represent farm communities will do well to note that it is the growing cities which constitute the farm markets—demanding more and more food and fibers.

The cities are going to keep on growing as industry comes.

If Georgia is to keep pace in the growth of industry and jobs, then all our cities—the small ones, the middle-sized ones and the larger ones—must have some help in tax revision or rebates.

Reds Will Split Allies If We Help Them Along

President Eisenhower said in his press conference Wednesday that the Chinese Communist attacks on American and British planes are part of the Red plan to split the Western allies.

He is probably right. And it's a good thing that he's said so publicly.

But such tactics are not new. Moscow's primary foreign policy aims are pointed in that direction. Within the past few months these aims have been translated into one division after another—divisions that have shaken the Western alliance to its foundations and destroyed much of the world's confidence in U.S. leadership.

A few more such divisions and the framework of Western cooperation will go up in smoke.

In another sphere of foreign policy the President did nothing to improve the U.S. position, Tuesday, when he handed down a decision raising the tariff rate on Swiss watches up to 50 per cent.

Every capital in the world was waiting for that decision. It was the test of sincerity for Ike's "trade not aid" pronouncements. It was another example of the government talking one way and acting another, a habit that has so confused our allies that they are looking elsewhere for leadership. Division, in such an atmosphere, is an easy game for the Reds.

Americans, Bless Them, Can't Help 'Doing Good'

America has always been a nation of do-gooders. From the establishment of the republic until today, our people have always shown a remarkable capacity for philanthropy.

It has been said that the only thing necessary to spur Americans to action is for a need to exist. Once recognized, a committee is immediately organized to do something about it. This is true from the smallest backwoods hamlet to the largest metropolis.

This capacity has made the United States a nation of joiners. We're the "joiningest" people ever to inhabit the earth. This desire to "do good" has found us lending our support to many strange organizations—a situation that was made to order for the Communists and resulted in embarrassment to many fine citizens.

Despite the latter, this habit of working together has been a major contributing factor to making America the greatest country on earth. We've organized societies for every conceivable purpose, from the sublime to the downright ridiculous.

It is estimated that the people of the United States donated $4,500,000,000 in cold cash in 1953 to various and sundry causes. In New York City alone, $500,000,000 was contributed. More than 1,200 local and 600 national organizations asked New Yorkers to give. One businessman reported receiving 1,200 solicitations during the year. Several corporations gave to more than 400 fund drives.

From door to door, over the radio, and through the mail the requests for aid pour in. Collection jars can be found wherever people congregate. Every appeal promises that the donation will help alleviate the sufferings and evils of mankind.

Most of them do. Although there is inefficiency and some waste in its spending, surveys show that about 97 per cent of this golden bonanza is spent honestly. There are some duplications, with as many as a dozen organizations working for the same cause.

But $4,500,000,000 is a lot of money. Generous America should get its money's worth. Every effort must be made by law and through education to drive the racketeers out of fund raising and to keep them out.

Americans will keep on joining and giving because that's the spirit of America. We've almost a pathological urge to do good.

And by the way, the Ubangi tribes of Africa still wear inadequate clothing. It's time a committee got to work on it.

Farm Bill Proposes Commodity Set-Asides

Several aspects of the administration's farm bill have received scant attention in the argument over flexible versus rigid price supports. Regardless of which method is adopted, changes in the farm program will affect every producer in the country.

For one thing, the bill now under consideration by the Senate provides for a commodity set-aside of $2,500,000,000 worth of surplus products. In other words, commodities of that value would be disregarded in figuring price supports. That, in itself, would tend to prevent a steep downward trend in the parity ratio.

The proposal is, as President Eisenhower and Secretary Benson see it, a method of converting to flexibility without too sharp a readjustment period.

Meanwhile, Secretary Benson is turning his attention to acreage controls. In several crops, including cotton, farmers must restrict acreage to get price supports. This has resulted in the past in diverting acreage to other commodities that in turn are soon in overproduction.

In other words, will this diverted acreage be turned to other cash crops in competition with other farmers? In late June Mr. Benson invoked cross-compliance regulations which require farmers to comply with acreage allotments on all crops in order to receive price supports on any. In other words, a cotton farmer would lose supports on cotton if he should exceed his allotment of other crops.

The regulation even goes so far as to take away the farmer's supports if he should increase his acreage in unsupported crops.

Any way one looks at it, the problem of farm surpluses is a national headache. Price supports without rigid acreage control is an impossibility.

On the whole, however, the government has not fared badly with its farm programs in the past. Since the present system of supports was initiated, the balance sheet shows a profit to the government on its over-all operation.

Panic Is Catastrophic In Time of Danger

The purpose of the Army drill sergeant is to instill discipline—the automatic and proper response to a given command or circumstance. So it is with the fire drill at the schoolhouse. So should it be with civil defense.

What happens when that discipline has not been properly instilled is illustrated by the experience of Port Jefferson, L.I., during a recent civil defense drill.

The simulated attack didn't come off exactly as expected.

Set off in a narrow valley, a 52-inch make-believe bomb blew out 80 windows in residences and six plate-glass store fronts, tore loose a chandelier in a restaurant, damaged a car and caused two women to faint, a man to have a heart attack and 10 dogs to go berserk.

The explosion so bewildered civil defense workers they forgot the two jet planes that roared over were part of the plan. The jets so unnerved the CD volunteers that they panicked and hit the dirt. Just about the time they reorganized a CAP plane came over dropping supplies and they scattered again.

Atlanta defense officials recognize the danger of panic resulting from failure to give the automatic response to the danger present. They recently announced in a progress report that Atlanta has 29 escape routes for dispersal of its citizens in the event of an air raid.

The defense officials are studying the capacities of these routes and readying a plan to test evacuate the city between Oct. 15 and Nov. 15. But the best laid plans can succeed only if the general public gives its wholehearted cooperation.

The Port Jefferson incident is an example of what to expect should a real emergency arise in any community that refuses to take civil defense seriously.

Come fire, high water or the air raid, the hazard rises as reason fails to work. Danger multiplied by panic equals catastrophe, no less.

Pastor's Daughter Backs Atlanta Ministers In Their Stand on Supreme Court Decision

Decatur—I want to answer Mr. Wheeler, referring to the voices of ministers raised in a cry for sane and rational application of Christian tolerance.

My father was a minister for forty-eight years. Most of that time he served churches in communities where segregation was adhered to. To my knowledge, thirty-two years ago, at his invitation, Dr. Sheppard, a Negro missionary from the Belgian Congo, preached from his pulpit.

Over fifteen years ago in the church presbyteries of Kentucky, Negro ministers were seated and enjoyed full social privileges among the ministers.

Four years ago, in Atlanta, I attended a meeting at one of the largest churches, where the speaker was Mrs. Mildred McAfee Horton. The congregation was made up of both Negro and white persons. A Negro man led the singing. There was no segregated section for either race.

My thinking arrives at this question: Has Mr. Wheeler been sufficiently in attendance at a large variety of church services and never heard the voice in the pulpit cry out for racial tolerance?

The answer to Mr. Wheeler is: The megaphone of public attention has been at last turned to the church and it is only the amplified voice he is now able to hear.

Bible Called Source Of All Revelations

Atlanta—Published errors are generally accepted as the truth, therefore I beg you to permit me to correct those of the Rev. Jas. F. Jones of Detroit. Jones tells of hearing God. He also claims that God gives him the information, on which he bases his prophecies.

He thus contradicts the Bible, which claims to be God's complete and only revelation. Rev. Jones has to get his information, where the rest of us get it, i.e., from the one and only fountain of truth, the Bible.

What Is Meaning Of Word 'Freedom'?

Bethlehem—After an agreement has been reached and a treaty has been made whereby ten million anti-Communist human beings have been left to the mercies of their Communist enemies, the leaders who made this shameful pact, are still talking of "future protection of free people from Communist aggression."

Is anyone entirely free? What meaning does the word freedom have? How long are the people anywhere on earth free?

While there may be still time, ask yourself these questions.

Even the Tomato Can Has Useful Purpose

Marietta—I see by the papers where a group of scientists are trying to discover whether the tomato is a fruit or a vegetable.

Originally the tomato was called a paradise or love apple, but nobody loved it. The tomato taste is an acquired one, like that for Canadian brew.

Tomatoes are what keep our tin mills going, also it helps to keep our alleys and backyards full of empty cans. The empty tomato can makes an ideal container for fish worms, showing that everything in the world, no matter how humble, has a place.

Geneva Defeat Brings Review Of Western Foreign Policy

In the Christian Science Monitor

WASHINGTON—When a great coalition of nations suffers a defeat of purpose, as the Western nations have suffered such a defeat in Indochina, their experts review the story in a sober research for the causes in order that a repetition may be avoided.

Such a review is taking place at this time in all Western capitals.

Here is the general Washington view—not of the politicians but of the anonymous and nonpolitical men who sit in the planning and strategy rooms behind the scenes who must think about these matters unemotionally and coldly.

1. For purposes of foreign affairs, as distinct from domestic affairs, the talk of the early Eisenhower months in 1953 of military budget economies was most unfortunate.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles was warning China not to take the truce in Korea as an opportunity to expand elsewhere. But his voice was backed not by the prospect of increasing United States military strength but by the assertion of declining United States military budgets. Undoubtedly, this encouraged the Chinese to think they could be bold with safety. They were bold, and they did get away with it.

2. When the situation in Indochina began to deteriorate an effort was made in Washington to obtain compensation by picking up the NATO alliance bodily from Europe and putting it down in Asia. The failure of the effort exposed a misunderstanding of the functions of the alliance and Washington ability to control it.

The Atlantic alliance was a piece of machinery meticulously designed for the specific purpose of containing Soviet expansion in Europe. It has served that purpose well. But it never was designed for use in Asia.

Add that Washington could enormously influence the alliance but could not lead it against its own contrary inclinations. The United States can still lead the alliance, but it has had to learn that it cannot command the alliance.

3. A serious planning mistake was made in operating during the early months of the crisis on the assumption that the Red River Delta was vital to the security of all Southeast Asia. This was the assumption of Indochina planning in Washington. It prevented the preparation of alternate plans.

4. Washington operations were probably much too heavily overlaid by a habit of assuming that everything which happens in the Communist world is masterminded in Moscow.

When the French started talking directly with the Chinese they made better progress than anyone had made by talking with the Soviets. Present inclination here is to think that Washington should in the future see Communist actions more in the light of local situations and try to deal with them separately.

Of course, there is vastly more to the whole story.

The native strength of the Communist movement in Indochina and the Chinese guns were not elements under Washington control. Nor could Washington overcome French weakness. Its concern is with things it might have done differently.

The Deal Was Atop the Table

When it comes to candor, the politician has slipped since the days when Louisville not only was the county seat of Jefferson County but also Georgia's capital city. So indicates a document in the State Department of Archives, "Page 194 of Book D of 'Bonds, Etc.'." The document reveals a trade among candidates, open and aboveboard. One of them pulls out of a race in a deal with an opponent, the terms recorded in black and white where they could be read all over. *This is it:

"Louisville 20th January 1797 It is this day agreed and understood by and between Daniel Sturges and Horatio Marbury that the said Horatio Marbury shall decline his pretensions as a candidate for the office of Surveyor General in favor of the said Daniel Sturges and shall so far as in his power promote the Election of the said Daniel Sturges to that office in return for which the said Daniel Sturges is to allow and pay Quarterly to said Horatio Marbury one half of the Salary and Emoluments of the said office for the first year and shall afterwards allow and pay unto the said Horatio Marbury one half the Salary fees and Emoluments of said office payable as aforesaid for the next year the year following, and so long as their United exertions and interest may continue the said Daniel Sturges in office the said Horatio Marbury furnishing at his own Expense after the first year a fit and Qualified person as an assistant in said office or until they shall Mutually agree to anul this agreement for the faithful Execution and performance of which they bind themselves each to the Other in the penalty of ten thousand Dollars Given under our hands and seals the day and date above mentioned.

Dan'l. Sturges (L S)
Horatio Marbury (S S)

Witness
John Barron

Recorded this 1st February 1797"

Six days later, the General Assembly met and balloted for Surveyor General. When the count was completed, Daniel Sturges had the majority.

He kept his pledge. On Nov. 19, 1799, it is recorded at the foot of the original agreement, "I do acknowledge to have received full satisfaction on the above agreement and am no longer to expect any advantage from the same. Hor. Marbury."

That was the way they played it in 1797. They called a spade a spade and if the deck was stacked they made the announcement with the deal.

Man Here Plays Mighty Fine Piano

Up ahead somewhere a fast freight train had jumped the track, strewing its boxcars along the main line. So we sat there waiting, hour after hour, the passengers in the compartments staring out the window at the pine-clad hills. In the roomette at the end of the car the old porter, with nothing to do, sat staring out the window too. He was old and fat and friendly, with a curly fuzz of white hair, and he was restless and wanted to talk, so whenever a passenger rose to stretch his legs in the passageway, he'd hail him.

"Law me," he said, as I stuck my head in the compartment where he was sitting. "Jus' sitting here thinking about the times gone by. We standing now in the Carolina country, in the country where I was born. Right over the hill there, I used to live. That little creek, I fished in many a time.

"Used to play the piano in the little town down the road. Played ragtime at the picture show. Played one Christmas week and made me twenty - five dollars. Bought me a brown derby hat and cocked it over my eye. Bought me a square-cut short-tailed coat and a pair of peg-top britches. Bought me some box-toed yellow shoes. Played one night till the picture show closed, then a girl come by and said for me to come play at her house a while. Said she was having a dance. So I went and played the piano, wearing my derby hat and my new suit.

"All the dudes from everywhere were there, dancing and laughing and drinking white corn. I wore that piano out. I played that thing, I'm telling you. They got to dancing and they got happy. Then they got to fightin.' Fightin' all over the room. I kept on playin' the piano.

"Somebody snatched the lamp off the piano and thow'ed it. I kept on beatin' out the ragtime. The fightin' let up, and they got to dancing again. Got to dancin' and the house got to shakin.' It stood up on pillars about fo' feet high. All of a sudden, kerwham and kerboom. Whole floor of that house caved in. I went off backward off the piano stool with the piano fallin' right on top of me. All them people all piled up on top of each other and me under the piano.

"Don't know how I got that box off me. First thing I knew I was out from under and a'runnin. Snatch up my derby and it was mashed flat as a fried egg. Thowed it down and run. Lost one of my box-toed yellow shoes. Run five miles home. Never left there for two days.

"Pa went to town and come back with the news. Town marshal heard the crash when the house fell in and lit out down there, Pa said, deputizin' everybody he passed. About forty men showed up there while them folks was wallowing on the floor, trying to get theirselfs untangled. Town marshal caught everybody there except one man, Pa said.

"They found a mashed-flat derby that wouldn't fit nobody they had in jail. They looking for the dude that wore that hat. That's what Pa said. I never said nothing. I just got my valise and put me a shirt in it, and took off down the road. Come to Atlanta and went to the railroad and asked for a job.

"That's how I got started portering. Been at it forty years. And still hate it about losing that derby hat, and that fine pair of yellow shoes."

Man Should Hallow His Creator's Name

A friend who is a devout Christian worker complains to me that the one thing which bothers him about worship services is the use of the words "Thee," "Thou," "Thy" and "Thine" when speaking to God in prayers. Why should such archaic words be used?

I suppose there are many who feel the same way and I know several ministers who feel strongly on the subject.

They not only use the words "you" and "your" in prayers but they insist that the language of the King James version is old-fashioned.

The question is somewhat similar to the question of whether pronouns which refer to God should be capitalized. One publishing house, for instance, specifies that the pronouns "He" and "His" should be capitalized but the word himself, as in "God himself," should be in lower case letters.

Neither question, of course, is essential to salvation, and Christian living is not altered. Both are matters of personal choice and I have no quarrel with varying points of view.

I realize that the pronouns "The" and "Thou" and "Thine" were common, everyday English words in the early seventeenth century when the King James version was published. The same words were then used when referring to human beings as well as God.

Yet in our day it seems to me that the use of these words may give a significance to our references of God, a distinctiveness. Most of us do not, like the ancient Hebrews, feel that God is so holy and man so sinful that the name of God ought not to be even uttered by human lips. And yet only the profane man will use the name of God without reverence.

If I were invited to the White House, however appealing the welcome which the President might offer, I would not enter his office, slap him on the back and say, "Hi, Ike."

There is a respect which his office requires and even his intimate associates, when referring to him, speak of him as the President or Mr. Eisenhower.

When through prayer we come into the presence of the King of Kings and Lord of Lords, we like Moses of old are aware that the place whereon we kneel is holy ground.

If the use of the ancient words heighten the reverent feelings of our hearts, then their use ought to be continued. The Psalmist exclaimed, "Let them praise thy great and terrible name; for it is holy" (Psalm 99:3). Jesus taught His disciples to pray, "Hallowed be thy name" (Matthew 6:9.) Whatever words we employ in our prayers, we must, as creatures, respect our creator.

Calvin Cox

It 'Behooved' Him To Ask Questions

The concrete canyons of the city are far from Nature. All about one are the things that man has made: the automobiles moving beetle-like through the mechanical regulation of the stop-and-go streets, the great stone-and-steel structures flung boldly against the sky, the signs and windows of flashing neon enticement.

The city is made of man and even the bits of nature which occasionally intrude upon the concrete fastness are fashioned by man. One of the artificial touches of the world outside is Plaza Park on Whitehall Street, an oasis of greenery in the desert of the city.

Man brought in the steel trusses which cover the railway underneath and placed upon them the concrete floor and upon that the dirt that grows the grass and trees.

A great variety of persons come to Plaza Park. There are the women shoppers who straggle in overburdened with children and packages. Gratefully they ease from beneath their loads and invariably they murmur the theme song of their cares: "My feet are killing me."

The young in heart and spirit come also to the Plaza. A boy and girl sit closely and whisper the messages of youth.

Many of those who come to the Plaza are old. They are the people of the lonely years, lost in the fumes and roars of the city and savoring in the nestling trees and grass the memories of simpler days long gone in, the abyss of time.

Consider the woman there on the middle bench, in the shade. She wears a dress of faded print, and the matrix of her face shows the work of a life not always kind and tender. She merely sits there, resting, thinking, maybe.

Along comes an aged man who evidently holds all the degrees granted by the College of Hard Knocks. He slowly halts and slowly eases himself upon the bench.

After a bit he turns to the woman. "Say," he says, "do you live here in Atlanta?"

She does not answer.

The seconds snap a fast tattoo, and again he speaks:

"Do your sons and daughters live in Atlanta?"

The faded woman slowly rises and turns to her questioner. "You need not be so inquisitive," she says, and then she walks away.

Staring after her, the inquisitor sits there for a time, and then he, too, rises. But he turns back and, addressing the world declares:

"I am a veteran of World War I. It behooves me to find out these things."

Thereupon he goes away, and when he is gone, the woman comes back to her seat and adopts anew her old practice of gazing at the passing throng, unmoving, and thinking, maybe.

Plaza Park, a balming place for the city-beset spirit, has thousands of visitors, and they are of all kinds—the aspiring, the beaten, and the in-between.

With Malice Toward Some

Leo Cristante turned away from the mirror, leaving the razor poised in mid-air with commercial grace, and said: "Confidence."

Somebody had asked the Atlanta Crackers' first prospective 25-game winner since Tom Sheehan (1920) what he thought he had to offer the major leagues now he didn't have when the Philadelphia Phils discarded him three years ago this month. All the season, you see, Cristante has talked of nothing but return to the majors. And when a fellow wins 18 games by late July, you've got to stop and listen to him.

Bisher

"Another thing, I've learned more about pitching, too," he said. "I don't mean I've discovered any fancy new delivery, like the slip ball, or the upside-down curve. I've just learned more about how to use what I've got. When I'd get ready to throw my 'out' pitch last year, I'd just rare back and burn the ball over with no idea of outsmarting the batter. I couldn't understand what was happening when they knocked it back down my throat.

"This year I make that 'out' pitch tougher. I make the batter hit the pitch I want him to hit. I still throw the same stuff. My fast ball's still my best pitch, what I call my 'out' pitch. I'm just getting more out of it than I was. Confidence, see?"

Like a lash across his back, Cristante is driven by one intense motive to return to the majors. He wants most of all to defeat the Phils. "They gave me a raw deal, I call it. Four times they call me up and finally in '51 they keep me. Then they don't pitch me—Eddie Sawyer and his 'psychological' handling, you know. Then they start me once and get rid of me."

—One Start, and Then Baltimore

Cristante has some obscure background that includes a break-in at Little Rock in '44. When he came out of the Army in '47, the Phils signed him and started him through their modest chain. His signing came at a time when the Phils were dispensing bonuses like a Christmas drunk, but Cristante was no bonus baby.

"I was too dumb to ask for a bonus. I wanted to pitch too bad."

Cristante made his place with the Phils after a landslide campaign through the Interstate League in 1950. "But you think they knew I was around? From April to July I pitch 22 innings. I get one start, against the Cubs, and this is the way it happens:

"On the train going from St. Louis to Chicago, Sawyer tells me the night before that I'm starting the next day. That's great. I haven't worked for days and he gives me a night's notice. I get clobbered. They get me out before the game's good and hot and I'm through.

"That's what Ken Silvestri told me when it was over. He was the pitching coach. 'You'll never get another chance,' he said. And he was right. The next week I was released to Baltimore. They brought up Andy Hansen in my place.

"I didn't care any more after that. I had a bad record at Baltimore (4-8). I didn't have a good year at Tulsa, but it was because I just didn't care. Then I was sold to Atlanta. That's the best break I ever got."

—A Circus, a Real Circus

Considerable time has been dedicated to a study of Gene Mauch's method of pitcher directing last season, much of it by Cristante.

"I really don't blame Gene," he said. "That was his way of handling pitchers. He believed in spot-pitching. He didn't feel like he had guys who could go every fourth day, but George and Giggie and I have been doing it this year. I'll tell you this, though. I'd sure like to have the guy playing second base behind me. A helluva ball player, I'll tell you."

While doing time at Baltimore, Cristante came across an outfield fit to drive a pitcher to suicide. The three gentlemen athletes were all displaced major leaguers with a thirst for anti-moccasin tonic and their night prowlings often left them in deepest misery, especially for daylight games.

"Their lockers were in a row, and one Sunday after we came in from batting practice they sat down grunting and howling like three mountain lions. 'Don't see how I'm going to make it today,' one of them said. 'Wow! That sun. It's blinded me,' another one said, and the third just sat there heaving. Man, it gave a pitcher real confidence.

"There was one place on the road where they used to race for the shower to see who could get dressed the quickest and get the corner seat at some bar downtown. A circus, a real circus.

"Nick Cullop, funniest guy I ever saw, was the manager and he coached at third. One of the guys had had a bad night and the next day he singled the first time up. The next man hit a line drive to the right fielder, but the guy on first was already running. Nick saw he couldn't possibly get back to the base, so when he rounded second Nick was waving him on and when he got to third he signalled for a slide.

"The guy came in in a cloud of dust, got up heaving and gasping and bleary-eyed and saw old Nick standing there laughing like a clown. 'What's so funny?' he said to Nick.

"'Nothing, yuh dumb———, except that you were out at first base before you ever started.' A real circus."

Jim Hegan Leads Win Over Nats

Doby Homers In 8-3 Victory

CLEVELAND, July 30 (AP) — The Cleveland Indians, following a five-run rally in the second inning with homers by Larry Doby and Jim Hegan, whipped the Washington Senators 8-3 tonight in the opener of a four-game series.

Art Houtteman, winning his 10th victory against 5 defeats, gave up 9 hits. The losing pitcher was Dean Stone, chased by Cleveland's rally in the second.

Orioles Wreck Stengel's Party

Baltimore Bombs Bombers On Kennedy's Slam, 10-0

BALTIMORE, July 30 —The Baltimore Orioles took little notice of Casey Stengel's birthday tonight, blasting Allie Reynolds and two other Yankee pitchers for nine hits and a 10-0 shutout by Don Larsen before 27,385 fans.

Bob Kennedy hit a bases-loaded homer in the fourth, the first for the Orioles this season, to break the Yankees' back.

His homer and two singles gave Kennedy six runs batted in and helped boost the Oriole single game total to the highest of the season.

Larsen, who scattered seven hits, beat his former teammates for his third victory against 13 losses. It was the second loss for Reynolds, who has won 10.

The defeat dropped New York two and a half games behind Cleveland, which beat Washington, 8-3, tonight.

Fur began to fly in the third when, with one out, Vern Stephens singled through the box. Kennedy walked and catcher Clint Courtney tripled, scoring Stephens and Kennedy. Then, Billy Hunter, attempting to bunt, missed for a third strike and Yogi Berra dropped the ball as Courtney came sliding home.

Berra tagged Courtney out but Hunter was off to first and proceeded to second as the Yankees ran off the field, thinking the third out had been made.

Umpire Frank Umont ruled there were still only two outs which permitted Hunter to take second. Berra and Manager Stengel protested and Berra was ejected by Umont.

The official scorer ruled Hunter reached base and took second on a fielder's choice. Berra was not charged with an error and was given the putout of Courtney and Reynolds got a strikeout.

Reynolds, lifted in the fifth for a pinchhitter, was relieved by Marlin Stuart, former Oriole, who gave up one run on two hits before Bob Wiesler came on in the seventh.

Chicks Nose Crackers, 5-4

Meeks Slashes Five Hits; Pebs Visit Poncey Tonight

By JESSE OUTLAR

Two old pros came through Friday night, and one didn't, so Memphis shook off the Atlanta whammy with a 5-4 victory which toppled the Crackers out of a top-spot tie with New Orleans and into a second-place tie with Birmingham.

Sammy Meeks, the old infielder who has put new life into the Chicks, slammed four Atlanta hurlers for five hits, including a seventh-inning homer which produced the winning run. And 34-year-old Dixie Howell, after surviving a scare which electrified the ladies' night crowd of 2,390 in the ninth, made the lead stand up.

Either Howell or Pete Whisenant had to be the hero or goat, and, unfortunately, the slump-bound Cracker outfielder was the latter.

Trailing since the first inning when newcomer Glenn Thompson faltered in his first start, the Crackers finally closed the gap to the final 5-4 total in the ninth. They had Bob Montag, representing the tying run, perched on third, Chuck Tanner stationed at second and Whisenant, 1-for-22, at bat.

Manager Whitlow Wyatt, who had used five pinch-hitters, had exhausted his supply, so Whisenant had to swing for himself. He dribbled meekly to Meeks, and the Chicks moved out of town with a 3-8 record for the year here.

For a spell it looked as though Manager Don Gutteridge had made a mistake in yanking Tom Flanigan, who became the first Chick lefty to beat Atlanta this year.

Flanigan had entered the ninth with a 5-3 spread and retired Jim Solt, the lead-off man. Dick Donovan, batting for Don McMahon, then singled, took second on Ralph Rowe's juggle, and Gutteridge gave Flanigan the hook.

Howell wrote off Jack Parks, batting for Junior Wooten, as a starter, but Bob Montag, swinging for Vern Petty, shot a scoring single into right.

Tanner then scored Montag with a double down the left field line, but Umpire Bob Ross correctly sent Bob back to third. Tanner's shot had bounced behind the wire fence, automatically limiting Montag to two bases due to a Poncey ground rule.

That brought up Whisenant, and that was all.

Thompson, making his first start in a month, walked five and fanned the same number, before leaving under a 2-0 handicap in the second. George Moskovich, who received three straight walks, scored both runs, the first on the first of Meeks' hits, the second on Rowe's walk with the bases jammed.

This pass finished Thompson, who was the loser since the Crackers never caught up, and Bob Giggie came on. He became the victim of some rocky thinking by Jim Solt in the two-run Chick fifth.

After Moskovich received his third pass, Meeks socked his third single and Kite Thomas hit a hopper to Petty. Moskovich was trapped, but Solt let him out of the trap by throwing to third to retire Meeks. Sammy had advanced to the hot corner during the chase, and Moskovich came on in, as he went out. Stan Jok promptly doubled, scoring Thomas, who had made second during the confusion.

Meanwhile, Flanigan waved the whitewash brush until Tanner

Keller Catches Two Outs for Leafs, Returns

Memphis was sans the service of Hal Keller Friday night but the husky catcher, away on a one-day mission to Toronto, is expected to rejoin the club in Birmingham Saturday.

Keller was called up by the International League team Thursday night in one of the strangest deals on record.

Toronto had a suspended game with Montreal on tap Friday. Both Leaf catchers had already appeared in the game so no receiver was available.

Keller, on option from Toronto, flew to Toronto Thursday night, caught the final two outs in the Friday night game.

The expense was wasted, however, for Montreal scored two runs in the top of the ninth and won the game, 2-0.

U.S. Leads Cuba in Cup Play; Phillies Recall Thornton Kipper

Condensed From Wire Reports

Hamilton Richardson and Straight Clark gave the United States a sweep in opening-day matches with Cuba in the Davis Cup tennis elimination play Friday in St. Petersburg, Fla.

Richardson defeated Orlendo Garrido, 6-0, 6-3, 6-1, while Clark topped Reinaldo Garrido, 6-0, 9-7, 7-5.

Richardson was just too powerful for his Latin foe. He set his man up with vicious drives and then stormed the net to put the ball way out of reach.

Clark had no trouble in the first set but ran into difficulty in the second when Reinaldo broke his serve on two occasions.

BASEBALL: The Philadelphia Phils recalled Thornton Kipper from their Syracuse farm club. . . . Savannah obtained pitcher Walt Kellner, from Ottawa. . . . The Pittsburgh Pirates optioned hurler George O'Donnell to Hollywood of the Pacific Coast League. . . . Ronnie Wagner, 19-year-old high school star, signed a Cincinnati Redleg contract and will report to the Douglas Trojans of the Georgia State League next season.

RACING: Sir Gordon Richards, one of England's top jockeys, was sent home from the hospital in fair condition. Richards was injured in a fall July 10. . . . Twelve of Aga Khan's horses will be flown to New York next week to be sold at auction. . . . Queen Elizabeth's Landau will probably be an entry in the International race at Laurel track Nov. 20.

Ham Richardson   Claire Doran

GOLF: Billy Maxwell fired a final round 72 to win the All-Army golf championship with a 72-hole total of 283. . . . Claire Doran and Beverly Gammon won semifinal matches to gain the finals of the Western Amateur golf tournament.

Wally Ulrich fired a seven-under-par 66 to take a halfway lead of 135 in the $20,000 Kansas City Open. Ulrich's great round gave him a one-stroke lead over Dutch Harrison and Mike Krak.

MISCELLANY: Glenn (Pop) Warner, retired football coach, was reported in an "improved" condition after a throat operation. . . . Maureen Connolly was at her home after being treated for nine days in a hospital for an injured leg suffered horseback riding.

Giants Batter Redlegs With Four Homers

Gomez Gains Ninth Victory

NEW YORK, July 30 (AP) — The league-leading New York Giants managed only six hits tonight but four of them were home runs as they whipped the Cincinnati Redlegs 6-1 before a crowd of 13,153.

The Giants treated starter Fred Baczewski as if he were responsible for the reports of dissension on the club.

Wes Westrum started the four-base parade with a blast against the left field roof in the third inning. In the fifth, Westrum walked and pitcher Ruben Gomez hit his first homer of the season, high into the left field seats.

Don Mueller opened the sixth with his second home run of the year. With two out in the sixth, Danny Williams drew a walk and Hank Thompson drilled a Baczewski offering far over the right field roof.

Gomez, in winning his ninth game, lost his shutout in the seventh inning when Jimmy Greengrass opened the frame with a tremendous triple against the center field bleachers and scored on an infield out.

PALS AGAIN

Durocher, Lockman Make Up

NEW YORK, July 30 (UP)—First baseman Whitey Lockman and Giant Manager Leo Durocher patched up their squabble amicably tonight and both posed together before game-time while insisting that yesterday's incident was "all over."

Lockman, taken out of the lineup at the end of the fifth inning yesterday after he and Durocher exchanged heated words, was back in the Giant batting order against Cincinnati tonight.

"It's all over," Durocher declared. "I don't want to discuss it any further."

Lockman, likewise, agreed that no ill will remained over yesterday's unpleasantness but refused to talk about it, also.

Charles (Chub) Feeney, vice president of the Giants, said, "The whole thing was over yesterday at 3 o'clock."

Braves Rout Bums For Eighth Straight

Adcock, O'Connell Homers Pin Loss on Erskine, 9-3

BROOKLYN, July 30 (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves spotted Brooklyn three runs in the first inning, then crushed the Dodgers 9-3 tonight for their eighth straight victory. The loss pushed Brooklyn three games behind the first-place New York Giants.

A three-run homer by Danny O'Connell and a two-run blast by Joe Adcock were the most telling blows in the Braves' 13-hit attack as they pinned the 10th loss of the year on Carl Erskine.

Erskine had allowed only one earned run in his last two games and he pitched three hitless innings to get things started tonight. But the roof fell in in the fourth.

The Braves received a brilliant relief pitching performance from righthander Ernie Johnson who took over with two out and three runs home in the first and stopped the Dodgers on two singles the rest of the way.

BILL ALLEN

Outdoor Georgia

WaterlessSummer Affects the Fall | National Thistle Teamsters Listed

The summer is wearing on, and it won't be the saddest time of the year—as autumn is for so many people—when it has worn itself out if August is going to be a great deal like July. And it usually is.

Bill Allen

A cool breeze and the faintest rain to unparch the mind and settle the sun-swiftened dust would be welcome. It would mean better hunting, better fishing, and a better year for everyone generally.

With a furnace-type deep summer without the intermittent July floodrain that I remember, you have little chance to catch the more wily fish which see you first and shy away in the low, clear water. Occassionally at night, you catch them hungry in a low, sandbanky stream and you can haul them away. But generally, a drought means poor fishing. In mountain streams for trout as well as in the larger rivers for bass.

The lack of water makes for earlier death to a lot of legume and seedbearing plants that would otherwise keep the late quail hatch alive and feed the multitude of doves until season.

This year, the seed will be ready for birdfood sooner, and will be eaten sooner by those birds who have not perished without water. That makes for more and more swamp-coveys. Now-you-see-'em, now-you-don't-type quail populations that move for food and water.

A drought is bad for everyone, and especially for some of us interested (not altogether selfishly, I believe) in conservation of wildlife.

But no one has learned a way to combat drought efficiently or successfully anywhere, except to store and save water. And water is more scarce every year, it seems, as populations grow and grow closer together.

THISTLERS: Sinbad, owned by N. A. Sinclair of Atlanta, was first place Thistle in the regional regatta and will be entered in the National Regatta at Essex, Conn., Aug. 23-25. Second at the Chattanooga three-race regional was Buzzard, owned by Shep Smith. Last year's Thistle sail champ from Connecticut, Dick Brainerd and his Brer Rabbit, now lives in Atlanta and will also represent Georgia in the National regatta.

SHORT CASTS: The ball-bearing swivel for your line is costly but well worth the money for spincasters whose lines get knotted. . . . Gerry Barton reports a six-pound bass taken on a live minnow deep at Fontana. . . . Three South Georgians, Arn Franklin, Wallace Benton and Bob Smith, took their pickup truck full of catfish back to the Florida line with them from Lake Sinclair after camping there three days. . . . Martin Thorpe continues slaughtering the panfish of Clayton County ponds with his golden grubs and plain cane pole. . . . Bill Murphy and Sam Standifer got 13 bass and seven crappie at Clark Hill in the Dry Fork area out from Soap Creek. . . . Tom Shaw at Little River Camp has the bass spotted within 300 yards of the boat dock, according to Tom Reeder. . . . The big catfish are coming out of Blue Ridge now as August comes. . . . A pretty string of bass—the first in nearly two months—was reported at Lake Chatuge by Ma'm Webb, who saw them but didn't get the North Carolinan's name.

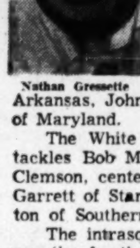
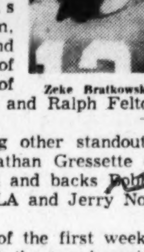
TATUM SPLITS SQUAD, BRAT QUARTERBACKS 'RED' TEAM

LAFAYETTE, Ind., July 30 (AP)—Head coach Jim Tatum today divided the All-Star college football squad into two teams for its first major training test tomorrow.



Nathan Gressette



Zeke Bratkowski

The division pits a squad of "Reds" against a squad of "Whites" in a practice game.

Lining up with the Reds are such players as tackles Crawford Mims of Mississippi and Art Hunter of Notre Dame; guards Morgan Williams of Texas Christian and Jerry Clem, Southern Methodist, and backs Zeke Bratkowski of Georgia, Lamar McHan of Arkansas, Johnny Lattner of Notre Dame and Ralph Felton of Maryland.

The White squad will number, among other standouts, tackles Bob Morgan of Maryland and Nathan Gressette of Clemson, center Jerry Hilgenberg of Iowa and backs Bobby Garrett of Stanford, Paul Cameron of UCLA and Jerry Norton of Southern Methodist.

The intrasquad game marks the end of the first week's practice for the All-Stars' Aug. 13 date with the pro-champion Detroit Lions in Soldier Field, Chicago.

Cubs Gain Split On Sauer's Homers

PITTSBURGH, July 30 (AP)—Hank Sauer, slugging Chicago Cub outfielder, blasted a homer in each game tonight as the Cubs and the Pittsburgh Pirates split a twin bill. The Pirates won the first game 8-6 on a 13-hit attack with the Cubs roaring back to win the nightcap 8-5 as they banged out 14 safeties. Sauer's round trippers, each coming with Ralph Kiner on base by the virtue of walks, brought his home run production to 32 for the season.

Eskew, Reynolds Set Crackerland Pace

Qualifying Leaders Fire 72s; Mulherin, Aaron Sky to 78s

By BERT PRATHER
Constitution Sports Writer

ATHENS, July 30—Henry Eskew of Griffin posted an even-par 72 to tie with M. S. Reynolds of Washington for medalist lead in the third annual Crackerland golf tournament here Friday afternoon.

Tommy Mathews, Atlanta; Edsel Benson and Jimmy Dudley of Athens were next with 74s, followed by Howell Hollis, Athens, 75, and Art Patchen, Augusta, 75.

Biggest surprise of the day, however, was the high qualifying scores turned in by 1952 Crackerland champ Tommy Aaron of Gainesville and former State Amateur king Frank Mulherin Jr. of Augusta.

Aaron, 17-year-old who recently qualified for the USGA National Junior Championship, shot himself out of the championship flight with 78. He took a nine on No. 16 when he attempted to play out from against the fence instead of calling it an unplayable lie.

Mulherin started well with a 37, but ran into a 41 on the back nine to also finish with 78.

Dan Stovall of Gainesville, another highly regarded player, finished with a 76. Larry Blum of Macon and Hoot Gibson of Athens posted 78s. Defending champion Jack Lumpkin of Athens did not have to qualify.

There is a possibility that additional players may qualify early Saturday morning. Drawings for the flights of eight will be made promptly at 11:30 a.m. according to tournament chairman Hollis.

First round match play will be played Saturday afternoon with the second and third slated for Sunday morning and afternoon.

Over 100 entries, a new tournament record, are scheduled to compete.

opened the three-run sixth with a homer. Whisenant's walk, Frank DiPrima's single, two outs and a wild pitch netted the other two markers.

Meeks poled his homer off Virgil Jester to launch the seventh, so they went down to the wire 5-3. Howell then returned the Chicks a winner in the photo finish.

Little Rock opens shop in its last appearance here Saturday night. Donovan (10-6) will hurl for Atlanta.

Barons Win, 8-1, Tie for Second Spot

BIRMINGHAM, July 30 (AP)—Birmingham moved into a tie for second place in the Southern Association by smashing the faltering Little Rock Travelers, 8-1, here tonight.

The victory was the Barons' fourth straight over the Travs, their 11th in the last 12 starts. It left Birmingham tied with Atlanta for the loop's second spot.

The Barons combined a 15-hit attack and smooth pitching by crafty Dave Benedict to smother the hapless Pebs.

Pels' Lights Blow

NEW ORLEANS, July 30 (AP)—Several persons were given first aid treatment at Pelican Stadium tonight after a transformer blew out on a light standard.

Spectators said the injured apparently were hurt while trying to get out of the bleachers.

The blowout delayed the second game of a Southern Association doubleheader between Nashville and New Orleans. New Orleans won the first game, 6-0.

Bears Maul Looks

MOBILE, Ala., July 30 (AP)—The Mobile Bears got off to another early start Friday night, but this time held the lead and defeated Chattanooga, 6-3.

The bruins ganged up on starter Mike Dzingelowski for four runs before a single Mobile runner had been retired. They added another at expense of Zeke Zeisz and tallied a final time in the eighth.

Big blow of the opening attack was Norm Larker's 20th home run of the season, a three-run clout.

Buz Cowart, Ansley Win Doubles Title

Dropping only one game, Buzzy Cowart and Shepard Ansley won the boys' 15-and-under doubles championships in the City junior Tennis tournament Friday.

The Cowart-Ansley duo knocked off Joey Kuykendall and Billy McNeill, 6-1, 6-0.

Finals in other divisions will be held Saturday at the Bitsy Grant Tennis Center. Ansley, seeking a clean sweep in his age group, tackles Jimmy Spratlin for the singles crown at 10 a.m. in the championship kickoff.

FRIDAY'S RESULTS

Boys 15 and under doubles (finals)—Buzzy Cowart and Shepard Ansley defeated Joey Kuykendall and Billy McNeill, 6-1, 6-0.

Girls 18 and under singles (semifinals)—Jackie Korman defeated Dottie Moore, 6-1, 6-1.

Boys 18 and under doubles (semifinals)—Alfred Thompson and Lindsey Hopkins defeated Norman Carter and Norman Hill, 6-1, 6-2; Rhodes Mathews and Harry Thompson defeated Richard Courts and Spencer Allen, 6-2, 7-5.

SATURDAY'S SCHEDULE

Boys 18 and under singles (2 p.m.)—Alfred Thompson vs. Lindsey Hopkins (finals).

Girls 18 and under singles (2 p.m.)—Meta Schroedel vs. Jackie Korman (finals).

Boys 15 and under singles (10 a.m.)—Shepard Ansley vs. Jimmy Spratlin (finals).

Boys 18 and under doubles (3 p.m.)—Alfred Thompson and Lindsey Hopkins vs. Rhodes Mathews and Harry Thompson (finals).

SNEAD FINDS NOTHING WRONG AFTER EMERGENCY CALL

Son OK, Fishing Bad, Vacation Off, Sam Sad

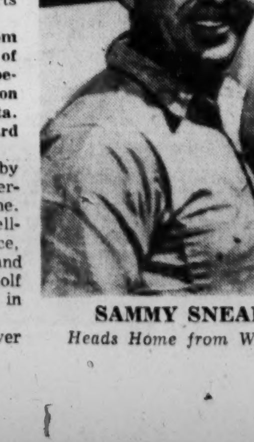
WASHINGTON, July 30 (AP)—Golfer Sam Snead said today that the 2-year-old son whose illness brought him flying here last night from a fishing vacation in the Minnesota north woods is "all right now."

Young Terry really was sick, Snead said, but it was only incidentally related to the eye ailment that was mixed up in erroneous reports that the child was in critical condition.

That report had set people all the way from the U.S. Forest Service to a small army of Minnesota fishermen hunting for the father before he was located aboard a fishing boat on Ensign Lake in remote northern Minnesota. Snead made the first leg of the trip out aboard a Forest Service plane.

It all started when Mrs. Snead, advised by doctors of a plan for a special operation on Terry's eyes, tried to reach her husband by phone. By the time the story expanded a bit in retelling, the Wilson Sporting Goods people, police, the telephone company, the Forest Service and Snead's assistant pro at the Greenbrier Golf Club in White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., were in on it, along with assorted fishermen.

"If I'd known all this would happen I never would have called him," Mrs. Snead said.



SAMMY SNEAD
Heads Home from Woods

Slammin' Sammy's own view of what was immediately wrong with young Terry when it all started early in the week:

"He burned his foot and generally wasn't feeling so good."

Snead tended to discount the eye surgery, for which Mrs. Snead is keeping their sons here while her husband plays the tournaments.

Both little Terry and his brother, Jackie, 10, have eye ailments that require a series of relatively minor operations. Jackie has already had two of them and Snead said that barring complications they only run to a day or so in the hospital.

The present plan, he said, is to operate on both boys' eyes the first of next week.

The father has to leave Sunday, before the hospital date, to compete in the Tam O'Shanter tournament at Chicago.

The idea of the Minnesota trip was to get some relaxation between the PGA tournament this week and the Chicago event.

Altogether that was a bit futile. Besides the abrupt breakoff of the trip, the fishing itself wasn't so good, said Sam — too hot; no bites.

Smith Rated Over Bean

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 30 (AP) — Boardwalk Billy Smith of Atlantic City rules an 8-5 favorite over Willie Bean of Los Angeles in tomorrow night's 10-round heavyweight match at Convention Hall.

The 9 p.m. (EDT) bout, another stop on Ray Arcel's Saturday night TV (ABC) series, will be scored by a referee on a round basis. Under New Jersey rules there are no judges.

Boardwalk Billy is the same fellow who used to be known as Oakland Billy. He is a strong puncher who knocked out Gene Jones in a preliminary to the Rocky Marciano-Ezzard Charles title bout June 17. His record for 84 pro fights is 52-22-4 with three "no contest" bouts since 1941.

One Look at Southern Beef And North Picks Air Attack

Smith, Reeves To Carry Load

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

North Coaches Erskine Russell and Gene Alexander took one look at the beef on the South end of Rose Bowl Field Friday and thanked their lucky All-Stars for the strong right arms of Rannie Smith and Gene Reeves.

Messrs. Russell and Alexander of Grady High and South Habersham of Cornelia were putting their charges through their first drill for next Friday night's All-Star football game at Grant Field, a companion piece of the annual GACA coaching clinic. And the needle-threading passing of West Point's Smith and Atlanta Bass' Reeves was the most heartening sight of the day to them.

Both boys stand 6-1 and weigh in the exclusive 200-pound neighborhood.

Russell, whose Grady team won the 1953 state AA championship, was pleased with the performance of Decatur's Charlie Maynard in dummy drills as he sought to convert his quarterbacking technique from the accustomed straight T to the single wing, which will be the North's basic offense. However, over-all efforts of the many T backs to make the switch was discouraging.

"They'll get it in a day or two, though," predicted Russell as he eyed two-a-day practices (8 a.m. and 4 p.m.) for the next five days.

Alexander, who worked most of the day with the linemen, was impressed with the hard charging of Murphy High's awesome twosome, tackle Roy Vickery and guard Mike Anderson, and the hustling of Grady guard David Meyer.

Hartwell's Joe Rowland and Athens' Agnew Peacock also gave Alexander early indication that the North will be strong at end. Rowland displayed outstanding blocking technique on the blocking machine, and Peacock's tackling was sharp.

South Coaches Knuck McCrary and Tom Stewart, of Moultrie and Dublin, worked their charges hard from the straight T and went through a lengthy passing session. But what they admired most at first look was that big line that featured five tackles over the 200-pound mark—Tom (Smoky) White (264) of R. E. Lee of Thomaston, Paul McNeil (233) of Valdosta, Richard Doucet (225) of Columbus, Jimmy Grantham (209) of Jesup and Bobby Sheahan (200), Boys Catholic of Augusta.

ALL-STAR BITS — Sideliners were "gee-whizzing" most about the potential of swift, 180-pound Henry Dukes of Boys' Catholic and the South. . . . Gordon Malloy, the Miami U. ace who suffered a shoulder separation while practicing for the All-Star game three years ago, rode a bicycle from Buckhead to Rose Bowl. "Getting in shape; I'm 185 now," he explained. . . . Gene Turman, Toccoa end, is the only missing All-Star but will be in Saturday. He's been ROTCing at Camp Stewart. . . . Ward Lawton, Auburn - bound 10-second man from College Park, and Ellijay's Jack Ledford probably are the two fastest boys in the ranks.

ATLANTA'S BILLY Moran broke up a no-hitter and won a ball game all with one blow recently in a contest between his Reading team and Albany of the Class A Eastern League. Moran, who got a $40,000 bonus from the Cleveland Indians for signing, got his team's only hit and with it knocked home the game's only run for a 1-0 victory. Unfortunate pitcher who lost the one-hitter was Jim Ehrler. . . . Dept.-of-obscure-information: Did you know that Bill Narleski, a former major league infielder and father of Cleveland pitcher Ray, was once a teammate of Cleveland manager Al Lopez with Jacksonville, Fla., of the old Southeastern League? I'll bet you didn't. . . . Yogi Riesgo, the catcher-manager who led Hazlehurst-Baxley to last year's Georgia State League pennant and playoff title, is now receiving with Allentown of the Eastern League. . . . Pvt. Masayoski Ohama of Hilo, Hawaii, was top individual in the Ft. Benning swimming meet Sunday with two firsts and a second. . . . The 136th Infantry Regiment is baseball champion at Ft. Benning this year.

IF FRANK Ziegler, the former Georgia Tech ace who recently retired from professional football, doesn't land a coaching job, he'll probably join his brother's tool business. In that case, he'll join Claude Hipps, another recently-retiring pro in the business world here. . . . Albany's Cardinals of the Georgia-Florida League are proving you don't need power to be a contender. The Cards, in a close third place right now, have hit only 16 home runs this season — five by a lad named Harry Keister. . . . The Georgia Bulldog Club of Chattanooga is planning a luncheon to honor graduates Zeke Bratkowski of the Bears and Charley Trippi of the Cardinals when the two Chicago pro teams clash there in an exhibition Aug. 18. . . . Langdon Lea (.533), Gene Thomas (7-0) and Joe Flesch (6), led the Ft. Benning Little League in hitting, pitching and home runs this year. . . . Major Robert R. Brooks of Ft. Jackson, S.C., may be a fellow to watch in the Third Army Tennis tournament at Camp Stewart next week. Brooks won the singles and shared in the doubles title in the Army tournament at Nurenberg, Germany, last year. . . . One of the top swimmers at Camp Gordon is Cpl. Jim Erkert, a former Northwestern University star. A one-time Illinois state champ in the 50 freestyle, Erkert won two events and placed second in another in the recent post swim meet.

Neely Loses In Singles, But Wins Doubles

Special to The Constitution

KALAMAZOO, Mich., July 30—Top-seeded Alan Silverman of Brooklyn, N.Y., Friday eliminated Ned Neely, Atlanta, Ga., in the boys singles quarter finals of the National Junior and Boys' tennis championships.

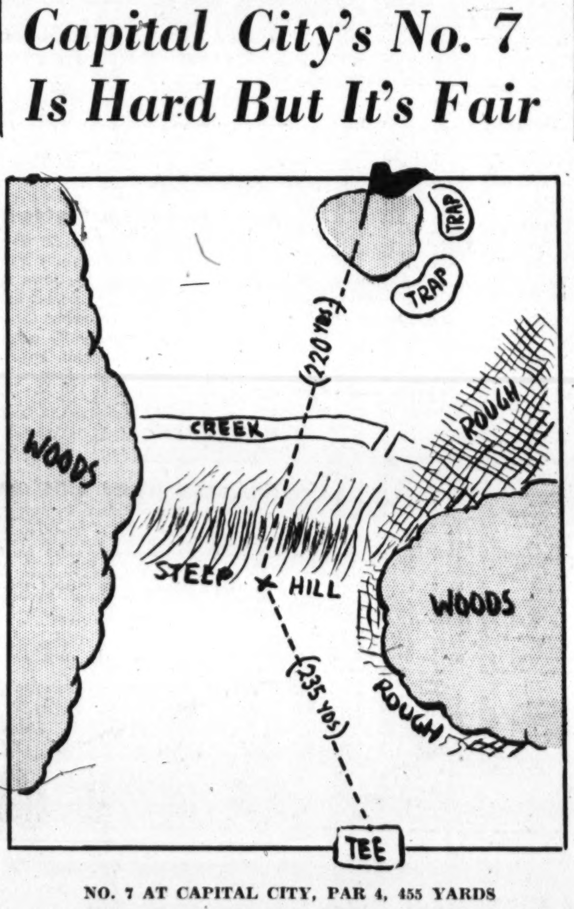
Silverman won the match, 6-0, 6-4, winning the first seven games, and then settling down into a steady battle of lobs with the eighth-seeded Neely, who couldn't turn the tide despite his change of tactics.

Neely, however, reached the semifinals in boys' doubles, in company with Earl Bucholz, St. Louis, Mo. They defeated Robert Bowditch, Worcester, Mass., and Don Rubell, Brooklyn, N.Y., 6-3, 6-1, in Friday's quarter-finals.

In third-round junior doubles, Crawford Henry, Atlanta, and Thomas Robinson, Baton Rouge, La., lost to Rom Holmberg, Brooklyn, N.Y., and Donald Dell, Bethesda, Md., 6-3, 6-2.

ALL-ATLANTA 18

Capital City's No. 7 Is Hard But It's Fair



NO. 7 AT CAPITAL CITY, PAR 4, 455 YARDS

(What are the 18 toughest holes on Atlanta's 22 golf courses? This is the 12th in a series that picks them out for you, for beauty, for interest and for test of golf. The selections were made by leading pros and amateurs in the city and written by staffer Jimmy Mann.)

This No. 7 hole at the Capital City Country Club could possibly be considered as one of the best tests of golf in the city of Atlanta.

The long knocker has to beware of his strength, the shortie has to string two straight wood shots and the wild player will probably pick up a seven or eight or his ball.

Woods to the right of the fairway hide the green but that is not the immediate concern of the planer. The first shot has to be out far enough to insure a try for the green, yet not too far to carry down a steep hill in the middle of the fairway and on into a penalty creek.

Woods and rough line both sides of the fairway from the tee. On the right side the woods give way to rough, after the first shot and the slicers face deep weeds and traps protecting the green. Hookers, after the second shot, won't find too much trouble other than a difficult approach to the green and a one-putt assignment for their par.

The player is his own worst enemy on this hole. A wide fairway opening from the tee offers plenty of opportunity for a well placed tee shot and safe assault to the carpet. But too much power, a slice or a weak belt defeats the cause.

Second shots to the sloping green should be high and played to the left to avoid bad bounces and kicks to the traps.—MANN.

GEORGIA BUSINESS

Black, World Bank Give Aid at Profit

By JIM MONTGOMERY

"Eugene Black, Banker to the World."

Thus the native Atlantan who runs the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development is depicted in a lengthy article in the August issue of Fortune magazine.

Eugene Black

The publication says Black, who was a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of the University of Georgia in 1917, "has one of the most important, intricate and exasperating jobs in banking history — and his bank makes money."

The World Bank itself is "owned" by 56 nations, as divers politically and economically as possible. Yet "the durable Georgian" who runs it, says Fortune, has a particular talent in handling opposite viewpoints and actions so that they somehow rebound to the advantage of his bank.

His effectiveness is partially revealed in the fact that the bank, which is dedicated to nothing less than the worldwide establishment of the industrial revolution, makes a profit. In the last fiscal year this amounted to over $20 million.

The 56-year-old Georgian's major interests (outside of banking) are golf, baseball, the theater and 19th-century novelists.

He served a brief stint as a combination ad man and reporter on The Atlanta Constitution and a year's sea duty as a "seasick naval officer" in World War I.

It is pointed out that Black's father was chairman of the Federal Reserve Board and that his grandfather, Henry Grady—editor of The Constitution — led the South out of post-Reconstruction fatalism into the first stages of its modern economic development.

Big Broilers About Ample

In north Georgia's broiler producing area Friday supplies of birds weighing more than three pounds were about ample for the good demand for those kinds while lighterweights ran more than ample. The market held steady, ranging 25 to 26 cents a pound on sales at the farm and 26 to mostly 26½ cents for sales at plants.

ATLANTA LIVE POULTRY (USDA-GDA)

Live poultry market about steady. Prices unchanged. Moderate receipts met fair demand. Some off quality broilers weighing from 1½-2½ pounds sold for 15-20½c others sold as listed. Prices paid delivered and weighed in Atlanta: Broilers or fryers, 2½-3 pounds (small lots 3-35 coops), 27-27½c; hens, heavy type, 18-20c, mostly 18-19c; light type, 13-16c; roosters, 12-15c. Ready-to-cook poultry prices generally unchanged although sellers offered supplies freely. Best movement was on hens as prices more attractive than on young stock and this stimulated sales. Prices to retailers, drawn, ice packed, mixed sizes broilers or fryers (small lots), 40-43c, mostly 40-41c; hens, over 3½ pounds, 35-42c, mostly 35-38c; under 3½ pounds, 30-32c.

NORTH GEORGIA LIVE POULTRY (USDA-GDA)

North Georgia live poultry market steady. Supplies of weights over 3 lbs. about ample for a good demand with lighter weights ample to more than ample for a light demand. Prices paid 24 hours ending at 10 a.m. today: broilers or fryers 2½-3½ lbs. at farms 25-26c f.o.b. plants 26-26½c mostly 26½c.

Steels, Aircrafts Advance Briskly

Market Hits Another Peak; Youngstown Up 5 Points

By RADER WINGET

NEW YORK, July 29 (AP)—The stock market closed the week today with a lively advance that sent it up to its fourth straight new high mark.

Steels and aircrafts were leaders in the rise and were helped along by many individual issues plus the utilities, railroads, oils, coppers, rubbers, radio-televisions, atomic issues, shipbuilding shares, and some sugars.

There were three top-interest issues—Youngstown Sheet & Tube up 5⅛ at 58, Bethlehem Steel up 2⅝ at 80¼, and Goodall-Sanford up 3¾ at 23⅞.

Gains throughout the market went to between 1 and 2 points at the best with some pushing on higher.

AP AVERAGE BOUNCES

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks went up 60 cents at $133.20, the fourth straight new high mark going back to Oct. 22, 1929.

The industrial component of the average was up $1.10 at a new high of $180.50, the utilities edged ahead 10 cents to a new high of $63.90, and the railroads were up 30 cents.

The market encompassed a broad list of issues—1,218—of which 615 rose and 332 fell. Two hundred and nine issues recorded new highs for the year while four stocks touched new lows during the day.

WEST COAST REACTS

The flurry of buying in the two steel issues resulted from the confirmation by Eugene G. Grace, Bethlehem chairman, of Wall Street rumors of merger talks between Bethlehem and Youngstown officials. Grace made his announcement right at the close of trading yesterday.

On the West Coast, Youngstown soared around 4 points. Today at the opening on the New York Stock Exchange, buying and selling orders were lumped together in a block of 20,700 shares at 59½ up 6⅝. Within a short time the stock dropped away from its best but recovered and closed with a net gain of 5⅛.

Atlanta Produce

On the Atlanta fresh fruit and vegetable market trading was moderate, but supplies were slightly lighter than earlier in the month with many homegrown commodities reaching the end of the season, according to the AMS.

Lima bean prices went to 3.50 for the best and 3.00 for the generally good quality available, but many offerings were selling as low as 2.50 per bushel, but most of the general offerings sold around 3.00-3.50. Tendergreens and other round green varieties sold 2.00-2.50 with some good Valentines as high as 3.00. Cabbage continued to sell at 1.50 for most stock, and cantaloupes moved at 1.50-2.00. Collards remained at 1.00-1.50 per dozen bunches, and corn was mostly 30-35c per dozen ears, but some good quality sold at 50c. Cucumbers went at 2.50-3.50 according to the quality, and some of the poor quality large stock was 75-1.00. Eggplant continued to sell at 2.00-2.25, and okra was slightly stronger with most sales at 3.50, but an occasional bushel brought 4.00.

Peaches continued to arrive from Georgia and South Carolina but there seemed to be more South Carolina on the market and fewer Georgia. The price remained about 3.50 for most of the generally good quality 2-inch stock. Some large Hales brought as much as 5.00, and much of the small and poor quality stock sold 1.50-2.00. Pears were 1.25 per bushel and field peas were 1.00-1.50 with some even lower. Peppers brought 2.00-2.50 with some good North Carolina 3.50, and ordinary quality 1.00-1.50. Potatoes from Alabama still brought 4.00 per cwt., but the supplies were quite heavy this morning. Squash remained dull and unchanged and the same was true of watermelons. Sweet potatoes were about steady, and tomatoes were also steady.

Butter and Eggs

ATLANTA EGG MARKET (USDA-GDA)

Egg market weak. Prices substantially lower on all grades. Demand only fair although better quality stock well cleared. Trade cautious and most buying was for immediate needs only. Atlanta first receivers paid local shippers the following prices, cases included, delivered in Atlanta (min. 60 per cent A quality including 10 per cent AA quality): Extra large white 48-50c, large white 45-48c, mostly 45-46c; large brown 45-47c, mostly 45-46c; medium 35-38c, mostly 35c; small 21-25c, mostly 21-22c; peewees 12-15c. In prices to retailers, consumer graded AA quality and special marks were as follows: Extra large and large white 53-58½c, mostly 55c; large brown 53-55c, medium 45-48c, small 28-30c. Prices to retailers, consumer grades, commercially graded, cases included, loose basis: A large white 50-55c, mostly 53-54c; A large brown or mixed 48-55c, mostly 50-51c; A medium 40-47c, mostly 43-45c; A small 25-28c; B grades too few to report.

NEW YORK, July 30 (AP)—(USDA)—Butter steady, prices unchanged. Receipts 110,952.

Cheese steady to firm, prices unchanged. Receipts 84,410.

Cotton Stays In Same Rut

NEW YORK, July 30 (AP)—Cotton futures failed to emerge from their narrow trading range today. Final prices were 15 cents a bale lower to 10 cents higher.

The government today published the mid-July cotton parity. It provides the basis for computing the loan level for the 1954 crop. The loan level for the current crop, based on 90 per cent of parity at the 10 Southern markets for 15-16-inch cotton, is estimated at 33.52 cents a pound. This compares with 32.99 cents for the 1953 crop.

Dry Goods

NEW YORK, July 30 (AP)—Textile markets were quiet at the approach of the weekend. Only a few scattered fill-in lots were booked in the cotton trade, with virtually all business calling for spot delivery. Mill merchants continued to express optimism over a possible buying move developing the cotton goods market later in August. The last heavy buying of cotton goods took place in May.

Prices for woolen and worsted goods remained firm, but business was spotty. The improved undertone, dealers explained, was primarily due to higher prices for raw wool in world markets.

Late Thursday there was a modest increase in sales of lightweight spun fabrics for spot delivery in the rayon goods market. Some additional sales were confirmed today.

Beans Spurt; Wheat Weak

CHICAGO, July 30 (AP)—Soybeans flew high on the Board of Trade again today, ending another week of extraordinary gains. All contracts hit new seasonal highs. Other grains did not approach soybeans in either strength or activity. Corn had a strong undertone, although closing down from its best level. Wheat was the weak spot. Except for a short period at the start it sold under the previous close for the entire session.

Wheat closed ¾-2¼ lower, corn ¼ lower to ¾ higher, oats ⅜-⅝ lower, rye ¾-1¾ lower, soybeans 6¼-9½ higher and lard 5 to 18 cents a hundred pounds lower.

Hand Ups Tempo, Eyes Labor Vote

Has Busy Day, Of Handshaking

By ALBERT RILEY
Constitution Staff Writer

THOMASTON, July 30—Fred Hand made a bid for the labor vote in this middle Georgia industrial center Friday as he stepped up the tempo of his handshaking, speech-making, gubernatorial campaign.

In his busiest day of the week, Hand made two radio talks here and shook hands with hundreds of textile workers at the East Thomaston and Martha mills after a morning handshaking tour of the business district around the Upson County courthouse.

John Haynes, one of Hand's top local supporters, accompanied the House speaker on his visits to the textile mills to meet workers coming and going at the afternoon changing of shifts.

SIGNS CHECKS

Hand also had to find time during the day as chairman of the State School Building Authority to sign about $750,000 worth of checks for construction projects over the state. The checks were sent here from Atlanta for his signature.

In his principal radio speech, prepared for delivery over a local station Friday night, Hand renewed his scathing attacks on Marvin Griffin's proposal to maintain segregation in the schools.

"Marvin talks out of both sides of his mouth on the segregation issue," Hand said.

As to proposals once made by Griffin to increase the membership of county boards of education to 100 and to require a year's waiting period before new Georgia residents could send their children to school, Hand labeled them "utterly silly, stupid and asinine."

"COMPOUNDED CONFUSION"

Increasing school board membership from five to 100 members would turn school board meetings into "legislative assemblies in which confusion would be compounded and agreement impossible," Hand said.

He also had some sharp words for M. E. Thompson on the segregation issue. Although Thompson claims he wants to keep school segregation, Hand said, "His record doesn't bear his promises out."

The House speaker charged that Thompson "has been the tool of the National Association of Colored People in every race in which he has participated, and he certainly has given no indication that he has refused their support and offer of the bloc vote this year."

Hand headed Friday night for a rest at his Pelham home before addressing a rally at Americus at 5 p.m. Saturday.

AFFAIRS OF STATE—Barbara Varner (left) of Thomaston and Sara Cordell of Albany left Atlanta Friday night for a week's visit to Washington as representatives of Georgia Girls State at Girls Nation. Accompanied by Mrs. K. R. Murrell (center), director, they are slated to visit the U.S. House and Senate and will meet President Eisenhower.

Vows To Put Consolidation Before Voters

A member of the Fulton County Democratic Executive Committee said Friday he would fight any attempt to remove from Fulton's ballot a provision to let voters express their opinion on a merger of Atlanta and Fulton County governments.

Committeeman Johnny Vickers of Sandy Springs said he and other committeemen have received anonymous telephone calls from city and county employes attempting to "pressure" them into removing the consolidation question from the ballot.

Vickers said attempts have been made to have a special committee meeting called to rescind the board's unanimous action in placing the question on the Sept. 8 ballot, but he and Chairman C. G. Drake of Union City emphasized no such meeting would be called.

If opponents of the measure do succeed in calling a meeting, Vickers said he would take the floor and talk to death any attempt to remove from the ballot the question: "Are you in favor of complete consolidation of Fulton County and City of Atlanta Governments?"

Vickers, a consolidation backer, said he wanted to give voters a chance to express their views on the question, pro or con. He said their vote would be a "people's mandate."

Davis Pleads for Bill Aiding Railmen's Kin

Constitution Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, July 30—Rep. James C. Davis of Georgia today made a strong plea in the House for extension of the Railroad Retirement Act to provide greater benefits for widows and dependents of railway workers. A bill to that end was later passed by the House.

Will Attract Tourists, Griffin Says

By M. L. ST. JOHN
Constitution Political Editor

DAHLONEGA, July 30—Gubernatorial candidate Marvin Griffin told this tourist-minded mountain area Friday he would open up the beautiful north Georgia mountains to attract tourists and to provide Georgia a playground, if he is elected.

Griffin said he would pave all the roads through the north Georgia mountains with a proposed rural road building authority without extra cost to the taxpayer.

Addressing himself briefly to a group of North George College students in his audience, Griffin said he is proud of the college and that he will lend his efforts to develop it.

PENSIONS, ROADS

Pushing his promises to increase old-age pensions and to hard-surface every rural road in Georgia, the lieutenant governor said that he is the only candidate in the field with definite pension and rural road programs.

The Bainbridge publisher continued his attack on the Atlanta newspapers.

Said he: "I predict that the Atlanta press, to dodge responsibility of libel laws, probably will launch a smear campaign against me in the farmers' Market Bulletin so they can quote the Market Bulletin."

He charged that the professional politicians, cooperating with the Atlanta newspapers, put Commissioner of Agriculture Tom Linder into the gubernatorial race to split the Griffin vote.

"ROAD TO HADES"

"For 20 years, the Atlanta newspapers have not had a kind word for Linder, but they would ride down the road to Hades with anybody who would let them take up the tickets and share the proceeds," Griffin commented.

Griffin added gubernatorial candidate Charlie Gowen to the "strange political bed." At Barnesville Thursday, he said that Tom Linder, Fred Hand, Jim Cox, Roy Harris, M. E. Thompson, Ellis Arnall, and Ralph McGill were in this big political bed.

Lowe Opens Campaign Office

Wyman C. Lowe, candidate for Congress from the Fifth District, Friday announced opening of campaign headquarters at Room 412 Loew's Grand Theater Building.

Lowe said Mrs. Sarah Bond of Atlanta will be one of his assistant campaign managers and volunteer workers will help man his headquarters.

The candidate said his campaign thus far has included seven radio speeches and one television appearance.

Wheeler Violating Mailing Law, Mrs. Blitch Charges

Constitution State News Service

HOMERVILLE, July 30—Mrs. Iris Blitch is telling voters in southeast Georgia's Eighth Congressional District that incumbent congressman, Rep. W. M. (Don) Wheeler of Alma is using franking privileges to mail campaign letters into the district.

Mrs. Blitch, a state senator who is seeking Wheeler's post in Congress, charged that "thousands of letters" are being mailed—postage free—from the congressman's Washington office.

The Homerville candidate charged Wheeler's use of his franking privilege was "in direct violation of the law" and that people of the Eighth "resent having to foot the bill for his election campaign."

In speeches over the district, Mrs. Blitch continued to hammer at what she termed "the present congressman's record of absenteeism, sometimes for months at the time."

She also charged that Wheeler has voted for "special interest groups" and "against the people of the district."

Thompson Vows No Toll Roads

By JACK SPALDING
Constitution Staff Writer

CLEVELAND, July 30—Freedom from toll roads should be added to the list of freedoms in a democracy, gubernatorial candidate M. E. Thompson today told a crowd in this mountain valley town.

Thompson, speaking at the peak of the summer tourist season here, said current toll road plans in the state would cause tourists to rush through areas in the state that now benefit greatly from out-of-state visitors.

VOICES CONFIDENCE

Thompson said the law creating Georgia's toll road authority would be repealed, not "if" but "when I am elected governor."

The candidate claimed toll roads would endanger the approximately $255,000,000 which he said tourist trade annually brings into the state.

Thompson referred to the other freedoms in his platform which include "free, separate and state supported schools." All these freedoms, he said, add up to "free citizens in a free state."

PARKS PLANK

Speaking to the crowd which yelled with old-time political fervor, Thompson said that under him state parks would be run for the people and not used as "political plums."

"You boys over in Union County know what I am talking about," he said to a chorus of "yeas." (Vogel State Park is in Union, less than 20 miles from Cleveland.)

He said he will leave the county unit system just as it is, and that it does not belong in the Constitution nor does it belong in the general election.

5th District, Lead Races Gain Steam

Political activity in the Fifth Congressional District and the Atlanta area was stepped up Friday as candidates for Congress, state legislative posts and local offices made and scheduled campaign speeches.

Morris Abram, who will kick off his campaign for Congress at 3 p.m. Saturday at the Rockdale County Courthouse in Conyers, told the Sandy Springs Kiwanis Club Friday night that incumbent Rep. James C. Davis "stood idly by" while Republicans slandered the Democratic Party, undermined religious institutions with false charges of communism and disrupted the morale of the Army.

In a television appearance, Dr. Jack Norris, a candidate for Post No. 1 on the Fulton County Commission, said he would, if elected, work toward establishment of a self-liquidating suburban hospital system in the Atlanta area.

Atlanta School Board President Devereaux McClatchey and Mrs. Dorothy Floyd, president of the Atlanta Public School Teachers Assn., said Board Member Neil Baldwin had no right to commit city school authorities to support state senatoial candidate R. L. (Shorty) Doyal. Baldwin countered he was speaking for himself alone at a rally for Doyal.

A slate of legislative candidates in DeKalb County announced it would kick off its campaign at a watermelon cutting at 4 p.m. Saturday at 5200 Morgan Rd. in Tucker. The slate is composed of Cullen M. Ward for the Senate and James R. Almand Sr. and G. W. (Bill) Jessee for the House.

DeKalb Commissioner Scott Candler will continue his campaign for reelection at a fish fry sponsored by his friends at 6 p.m. Saturday at the VFW Club in Stone Mountain.

Gowen Hails Hand's Blast At 'Interests'

Refers Thompson To Old Adage

By JIM PINSON
Constitution Staff Writer

BUENA VISTA, July 30—Charlie Gowen neared the end of a campaign swing through middle Georgia Friday pounding away at "special interests" and two candidates he claims they are financing in the gubernatorial race.

Speaking at Buena Vista, the Brunswick attorney noted that House Speaker Fred Hand had joined him in calling Lt. Gov. Marvin Griffin and former Acting Gov. M. E. Thompson "the candidates of special interests."

"I am glad he finally discovered that the same interests are behind Marvin and Melvin," Gowen declared. "I have been telling the people of Georgia about them for the past two weeks."

IDENTIFIED

Gowen had identified the "special interests" as liquor dealers who want to sell in dry counties, road contractors who want to get state contracts by negotiation, and scheming businessmen who want to sell goods to the state without competitive bidding.

The reference to Hand came after the House speaker announced Thursday that he would expose the "double-deal" involving Griffin and Thompson in a speech at Americus Saturday.

In a new jab at Thompson, Gowen told his audience at Ellaville Friday morning that "the great arithmetic teacher is trying to prove that he has a chance to win."

"I suggest," he said, "that Melvin find his old copy book and take a look at the old adage 'don't count your chickens before they hatch.'"

ECONOMY

The candidate again called for economy in the state government, declaring that $15 million would be available for the paving of rural roads if some 3,000 "payroll leeches" were fired.

Gowen also promised, if elected, to reduce state boards and agencies from 75 to about 15.

He predicted Griffin's proposed rural road authority would turn out to be "a political plum" to be handed out by the governor to his henchmen.

As an example he cited the letting of a $15 million toll bridge contract at Savannah "by negotiation" recently.

Gowen will wind up his week's "handshaking" and speaking tour Saturday with four addresses. He will speak at Talbotton at 11 a.m., Waverly Hall at 3 p.m., Hamilton at 5 and Chipley at 7.

Mrs. Johns Honored on Retirement

High-ranking Army officers and about a hundred of her co-workers in the Third Army finance office staged a surprise party for Mrs. Lydia T. Johns, 70, Friday afternoon as she retired after 33 years' federal service.

The party was held at finance office headquarters at West Peachtree and Baker streets as Mrs. Johns finished her last day's work. She was presented letters of commendation and a certificate of achievement by Gen. Hugh W. Whitt, retired Air Force officer; Col. J. W. McManus, commanding officer at finance headquarters; Maj. Gen. Sam T. Wilson, finance and accounting officer at Ft. McPherson, and a letter from Col. G. A. Summa, retired finance officer.

Her coworkers presented a "This Is Your Life" skit and showered her with gifts. Mrs. Johns, who lives at 769 Argonne Ave., NE. with her husband, Raymond B. Johns, entered federal service in Cincinnati and came to Atlanta in 1927.

Senate Committee Approves Tuttle

WASHINGTON, July 30 (AP)—A Senate judiciary subcommittee today approved nomination of Elbert Parr Tuttle of Atlanta to be a U.S. circuit court judge.

Tuttle, who is now general counsel for the Treasury Department, was nominated for the Fifth Circuit judgeship created by an omnibus bill.

PLAY DAY activities at Grant Park climaxed the summer recreation programs at city parks with competitive games between park teams. Lanny Cobb, left, waits his turn as Wayne Tumline lines up a shot in tournament for children 10 and under. Checkers, kalah and other table games were played by younger group during the all-day recreation program.

MELON SLICE is perfect after an active day. Joanne Hambrick and Ronald Marchman dig into a big slice of juicy watermelon.

COOL WATER after a day of merry-go-round riding and sack races is welcome to Peggy Samples. The water kegs were much in demand by youngsters and teenagers, who attended the program. A visit to the zoo and a ride on the miniature train at Gran t Park were popular pastimes for the younger group.

ONE POTATO, two potato, three potato, four, counts Jean Shadix of Ed S. Cook playground as her teammates wait for tag in potato races for "midgets." Paddle tennis, 50-yard dash and baseball throws for distance were among other events scheduled.

Listen Here, Dior: You Can't Do That to Us!

By YOLANDE GWIN

Hold that line, gals, here comes that Dior man again!

You remember Christian Dior. He's the one who started the "New Look."

And now, of all things, he wants the flapper back again.

She was the glamour gal of the roaring '20s. The Marilyn Monroe of the Jazz Age.

Only the Charleston Queen didn't have a lot that Marilyn has. She had no hips, no shoulders, no bust, no curves, no extra pounds and no Joe DiMaggio!

Dior calls his flapper look the "H-Line."

How do Atlanta women react to what Dior has done?

MRS. CHARLES COX says: "When I wore those hip hugging dresses I had just as good a time without looking like Marilyn Monroe. Didn't hinder me at all.

Mrs. C. B. Cox

I was really draped! But who wants to go back to the twenties? Dior could do a lot better."

MRS. HAROLD L. EBERSOLE: "I suffered through that period once and I never want to again: I think the styles of the twenties were terrible, but those of us who wore those clothes didn't have sense enough to know what we looked like. I think people should be up to date with their dress but too much of an extreme is foolish. Can you picture older women with those dropped waistlines?"

Mrs. John Knox

MRS. MAXWELL COUPER JR.: "Nobody will wear those clothes, but what memories they bring back! When I wore them I was like the rest of the crowd. Thought I looked cute. I must have been insane!"

MRS. JOHN KNOX: "Even with Dior's fashion influence I think he has come up with a failure this time. These clothes are certainly not the type I think women will like."

MRS. ALEX HITZ: "Tell that old demon Dior to let us alone and let us be women! I'll admit we were terrific and real hot stuff in the jazz age. But we're doing pretty well today too. I like the natural waistline and the pretty feminine type clothes. They're becoming to both young and old. I'm for the waltz age instead of the jazz age!"

Mrs. McKee Nunnally

MRS. HAROLD ROGERS: "Those jazz age clothes were horrible and the less said about them the better. Why I think women would do better to take up the pipe-smoking fad ather than go back to the flapper age!"

MRS. GERALD P. O'KEEFFE: "People with grandma faces look good in today's styles, but imagine a flapper figure with a grandma face! It just doesn't make sense."

MRS. McKEE NUNNALLY, (Mrs. O'Keeffe's daughter), says: "I think a person should wear the style most becoming to her figure. H-line? I'll wait and see how I'd look in one before I'll really make up my mind."

DOROTHY CHAPMAN: "Dior is not so hot with this one. I think he can do a lot better. I'd rather he'd drop the skirt rather than the waist."

Dorothy Chapman

MRS. CLIFFORD RAGSDALE: "That style ruined me once and I want no more of it. It's terrible."

MRS. JACK PAPPENHEIMER: "A lot of foolish women who think they have to keep up with the Joneses in the fashion picture will wear them, but I think they are foolish, unattractive and certainly abnormal looking. Dior doesn't think the H-line is attractive either. He just thought it up for publicity. And by the way, if a man wants to slip his arm around your waist, just think where he would have to put it!"

Sigma Chis Plan Picnic

Rush functions of the Sigma Chi Fraternity at Georgia Tech will get under way Saturday when the members entertain at a swimming party and picnic supper at 7 o'clock at the Buckhead Century Club near Roswell.

Guests will include the chapter rushees and dates of the boys. After supper there will be dancing in the clubhouse.

Three Cheers For Dior!

Well, hooray for Christian Dior! Up to now he hasn't been one of my close chums. In fact, I could neither spell nor pronounce his name, much less wear his clothes. But effective right now I'm enshrining his name in my memory book—or as soon as I get back from a trip to the corner drugstore for a banana split and a couple of chocolate eclairs.

As I said, I don't care what Mr. Dior did in the past. I'll even forgive him the bitter experiences of the "New Look" when I lost the use of two perfectly good winter suits (they were ONLY five years old each!) because of my inability to fix ruffles on them. My objection to the longer dresses he put us all in after the war was not esthetic but economic. It was simply cheaper to go on showing your knees than to buy a new covering wardrobe.

Now Mr. Dior has won my allegiance because he has come to the aid of those of us who have tried unsuccessfully for years to rearrange and redistribute what nature gave us so we'd all come out looking, more or less uniformly, like Marilyn Monroe or Jane Russell. Well, you know how many of us succeeded. Even poor Miss Brazil, a girl so fabulously beautiful she came within an inch of being Miss Universe, had too much below for what she had above.

There are those who are howling that Mr. Dior would put us back into flapper clothes and did anybody ever see anything any uglier than that era? The ones howling, of course, are the ones who have been looking lovely and fashionable all this time. Now I submit it's time the rest of us had a break. We're not accustomed to looking breath-takingly beautiful, so it's no skin off our nose if Mr. Dior's clothes are ugly. Let's all be smart and hippy together, I say.

Besides, it's high time somebody came to the rescue of hips. Venus had 'em. All those pink, curvaceous ladies in Renoir paintings have 'em. Lillian Russell had 'em. They're the easiest things in the world for any woman to acquire. I have heard rumors of women who wore hip padding, but I have tried assiduously to track down each rumor and I wish to report I have never met a woman face to face who wore false hips. This is not so with bosoms, as you well know.

Now Mr. Dior, it seems to me, is merely cooperating with nature. Nature is generous with hips and, except for a few well-favored beauties like Marilyn Monroe and Jane Russell, leaves the upper-story curves to be manufactured and sold over lingerie counters. Think what a savings it will effect when the flat-chested look is again stylish!

On second thought, I guess money is not really a consideration. Because if we don't have to worry about our hips being unspeakably tacky any more we'll all relax and start eating again. In fact, just in case somebody gives me a Dior creation for Christmas I'm going out right now to start getting ready for being fat and fashionable. Anybody care to join me in a malted and a slab of cake?

POPS PERSONALITIES

Mother of Two, Beauty Queen To Share Pops Spotlight

By JEAN THRASHER

A Georgia Beauty, Neva Jane Langley, and an Atlanta homemaker, Mrs. Frances Hodgson, will debut on the Atlanta Pops program Sunday.

"It's good to be asked to do something on your ability and not just your looks," says Pops star Neva Jane Langley.

Miss America of 1953, Miss Langley's piano interpretation of Khatchaturian's "Toccata" won the talent division and helped place the coveted crown on her brunette hair.

She will play Liszt's "Hungarian Fantasy" in the Sunday concert series.

COLLEGE SENIOR

Miss Langley who left Wesleyan College for her duties as national beauty will be a senior piano major at Wesleyan this fall under Mrs. Doris O. Jelks.

"I don't plan to be a professional," says Neva. "I just like music—classical, hillbilly, Dixieland and some popular."

Presently living in Atlanta while appearing on a local TV show, she gave her first piano performance, "Saber Dance," on the show Friday.

Required to practice six hours a day in school, Miss Langley has been squeezing in her hours at the piano between a heavy TV schedule.

U.S. TOUR

The beauty who represented Georgia in the national contest played some on her 100,000-mile tour of the United States.

"I had to play the same things over and over," she admits.

Her main musical experience was playing with the Wesleyan Glee Club's tour of the Gulf Coast states two years ago and an appearance with the Macon Symphony last fall.

Kivette of New York, who designed her coronation dress, also made the gown of tulle and lace embroidered with rhinestones and iridescent sequins, which she will wear Sunday.

"You can never get enough clothes," says the possessor of a large wardrobe from her year as Miss America. She has had to buy very few clothes since relinquishing the crown.

Frances Hodgson, the homemaker and mother of two, will sing the soprano part in the first act love duet from Puccini's "Madame Butterfly" at the Pops Concert Sunday.

After searching though encyclopedias for picture of Japanese dress, Mrs. Hodgson made a white brocade sheath with a fishtail back for her Pops performance.

"I plan to slant my eyes with eyebrow pencil," says brunette Mrs. Hodgson, who makes most of her own clothes.

"MERRY WIDOW"

Joe McKee, her singing partner in the duet, sang with her in a production of the "Merry Widow" at the University of Georgia several years ago. Peter Harrower, who will appear on the Pops program, also took part in the college operetta.

"I try to practice a little every day," Mrs. Hodgson says. Her two daughters, Ann 5 and Mary Katherine 2, make it difficult, however.

Singers-to-be, the two children's repertoire consists mainly of nursery rhymes and Ann has picked out a few scales on the piano.

"They were both born with a sense of rhythm," their mother says.

ATTORNEY'S WIFE

Wife of Atlanta attorney Dan Hodgson, Mrs. Hodgson's father-in-law, Hugh Hodgson, is a well-known musician and head of the music department at the University of Georgia.

Although she took piano lessons from Mr. Hodgson, he had nothing to do with her meeting her husband. A sorority sister introduced them.

Soloist with All Saints Episcopal Church choir, Mrs. Hodgson has appeared on many music programs in Atlanta and Athens.

Her favorite songs? "German lieder," she says.

Although her husband "grew up with music," Mrs. Hodgson comments: "He isn't interested in music beyond singing in the church choir and attending concerts."

To Hold Picnic

The annual picnic of the Women's Society of Christian Service, Haygood Memorial Methodist Church, will be held at noon Monday at Garden Hills Recreational Center.

The picnic will be preceded by the society's monthly general meeting from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. at the Haygood Church.

To Hold Meeting

Shorter College Business Girls Club will meet Tuesday, August 3, at the home of Mrs. Charles H. Hyatt, 1542 Farnell Court, Decatur. Estelle Hinde, recently elected secretary-treasurer of the club, will serve as cohostess.

SO SWEET!

My little boy loves griddle cakes.
He eats them till his tummy aches,
And then, with syrup on his lips,
And dripping from his fingertips,
He throws his arms about my waist
And kisses me with maple taste!

Carling Dinklers Hold Home Farewell Party

When Mr. and Mrs. Carling Dinkler Jr. entertained at cocktails Friday, it was a sort of farewell gesture to their Andrews drive residence which they have sold to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vantress, newcomers from California. They are planning to build on Valley road, and yesterday's party was the last to be held at their present address.

The affair took its cue from the honor guests, the Vagabonds, a quartet of entertainers straight from the Vagabond Club of Miami. The Hawaiian motif was expressed in the leis presented to the guests on arrival, and the Hawaiian drink called "pogo," served by an Hawaiian house boy dressed in a lava-lava. Invitations were issued to 250 guests.

WEEKEND VISITORS are Mrs. Emmett Lindauer and her daughters, Dana Dell and Elise of Springfield, N.J., who are guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. Mack Wynn on Interlochen drive en route from a visit to relatives in Eastman. Mrs. Lindauer is the former Catherine Wooten of Eastman.

A GRAND FAMILY REUNION is in progress at the Alton road home of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Curry, who have as their guests their son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Curry of Beld-

ATLANTA MUSICIANS—Miss Jan Smith, left, and her sister, Arden, take time out from rehearsals on the University of Miami campus where they are attending the sixth annual UM Summer Band Camp. The five-week session combines study, public concert performances and recreation. The Misses Smith are daughters of Dr. and Mrs. Gerald K. Smith.

ing, Mich. The latter couple's children, Jack Jr., Jim, Guinn and Nancy, have been visiting their grandparents since June. Mrs. Jack Curry is the former Dorothy Guinn of LaGrange.

Joining the family on Saturday for the weekend are another son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Birney Curry, and their children, Susan and Turner, of Macon.

MISS MARY KINGSBERY leaves Sunday for two weeks at Montreat, N.C. She will be joined on Monday by Mrs. Frank Smith.

Early last Monday morning Miss Kingsbery received a cable from her sister, Mrs. B. S. Fahy of Rome, that she had landed in Ireland, having boarded a transatlantic plane in New York at 2 p.m. the preceding day.

DEBUTANTE NADINE FERRIER has as her guest her Stephens College classmate, Miss Gingie Dorsey of Hillsboro, Ill.

RETURNING FRIDAY from a 10-day stay at the Cloister at Sea Island were Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Doran, their daughters, Misses Jeanne, Joanne and Marjorie Doran.

MRS. JOHN S. BLICK JR. has returned after a visit to Dr. and Mrs. Bon Durham in Americus. Miss Grace Durham has been the guest of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Fuller, on Barksdale drive.

ON A LEAVE OF ABSENCE from the Atlanta public schools, Miss Anita Burke leaves Monday for New York, from where she will sail from Fort Hamilton, Brooklyn, for Germany. She will teach in an American Dependents School with the U.S. Army in Germany.

MRS. ROBERT M. CRUMLEY departs Saturday to spend several weeks at Tremont Inn, Franklin, N.C.

LEAVING THIS WEEK for a motor trip to Quebec, Canada, were Mr. and Mrs. Andrew E. Lewis and their daughter, Rose Marie. The trio will stop in Washington and New York en route.

Your Stars Today

HAPPY BIRTHDAY! Domestic issues and home tie you down more this year.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Early morning vacation plans favored but later be content with routine for little pleasures.

How To Keep Your Car Cleaner, Longer

A car left exposed to the weather day and night gathers dirt and grime fast. A car port or a garage will help keep your car cleaner, and save many strenuous washings. Why not plan now with your contractor to add a new car port or garage? It'll also add value to your property, and you can pay for it in convenient monthly installments with a First National Bank Home Improvement Loan. Figure the cost with your contractor, then see The Man With a Plan for your loan at any of six neighborhood First National offices. There's a lot of weather ahead, so do it now. Walton's 1st Tobacco Sale Set for Aug. 3

The first tobacco sale in the history of Walton County is scheduled at Social Circle Tuesday, Aug. 3, when six farmers offer locally grown Turkish tobacco to buyers from South Carolina.

The sale is scheduled to be held at the school canning plant at 10 a.m. The public is invited.

County Agent H. H. Shores, discussing the sale, said that possibilities are "exceptionally bright here" for Turkish tobacco to become one of the county's principal cash crops.

Pointing out that the cash potential is $1,000 per acre gross from the crop, he predicted that farmers will divert more and more acres to the crop in the future.

Farmers who will offer the tobacco for sale Tuesday were listed as:

J. S. Clegg, Cliff Rogers and H. M. Bauchelle, Social Circle; Clarence Odom, Campton; Bob Malcom and Bill Wheelis, Pannell.

Tobacco Up Friday

Georgia-Florida tobacco prices made a comeback Friday from a midweek slump that dragged the season average below the comparative period of 1953. The U.S. Department of Agriculture said that over half of the grades gained from $1 to $5 per hundred from Thursday's low level. Thursday's sales of 9,664,548 pounds gross set a new daily low price average of $49.60. The season's gross sales were 94,693,825 pounds at $51.62. . . . Pvt. G. Teen Week at Cascade Baptist

By LAURA BARRE

A highlight of this summer's program at Cascade Baptist Church will be the "opportunity week" for teen-agers of the church and community scheduled Monday through Aug. 8.

The week's activities will include panel discussions on pertinent topics, recreation and a weekend trip to Unicoi State Park near Helen.

Programs are scheduled from 7:15 to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday, with the weekend trip beginning Friday morning.

Monday night a panel discussion on "If I were a Teen-Ager Again" is scheduled. Those to take part include Mrs. L. F. Van-Landingham, wife of the pastor of Cascade Methodist Church, moderator; Mrs. Paul McCommon, wife of the music director for the Georgia Baptist Assn.; Mrs. B. P. Castleberry, a teacher at Brown High School; Police Chief Herbert Jenkins and City Alderman Milton Farris.

Tuesday night Mrs. Joel Knight will speak on "Personality Plus."

Wednesday night Mrs. T. E. Clyatt of Gordon Street Baptist Church, will present a chalk talk and lead a discussion on "Making People Like You."

Thursday night the Rev. Ralph Kyle, pastor of Boulevard Heights Baptist Church, will speak on "Courtship and Dating."

After the special programs those evenings a period of recreation is scheduled, to be followed by a session of Bible study on the parables of Jesus.

Highlights of the weekend program at Unicoi Park will be the showing of a film, "A Missionary to Walker's Garage;" vesper and morning watch worship services; a Sunday morning sermon by the Rev. Leroy Brown of First Baptist Church, Clarkesville and a hobo party.

Mrs. Leon Denton, youth director of Cascade Church, will be in charge of the program. Others to take part include Dr. O. M. Seigler, church pastor, and John McPeak, church deacon, who will teach the Bible study course.

All teen-agers interested in the program are invited to take part.

Children's Home

Members of Georgia Baptist Association Children's Home committees have scheduled their annual meeting Friday at the Baptist Children's Home, Hapeville. Moderators, Children's Home chairmen and field workers are especially urged to attend the meeting, and other associational workers are invited.

The program will include a picnic lunch and a tour of the home.

Dr. Smart To Preach

Dr. W. A. Smart, professor emeritus of Biblical theology in the Candler School of Theology, Emory University, will preach at the 11 a.m. services at St. Mark Methodist Church the next two Sundays while the church pastor, Dr. John B. Tate, is on vacation.

Dr. Smart

A member of the original faculty at the Candler School, Dr. Smart is the author of several books.

The Rev. Sewell H. Dixon, associate St. Mark pastor, will preach at the 8 p.m. services. The two sermons will be his first at St. Mark since he assumed his duties there July 1. He formerly was pastor of Collins Memorial Methodist Church, Bolton.

Dr. Tate will lead the singing for a camp meeting at the Ocean City Tabernacle, Ocean City, N.J., Sunday through Aug. 8. His wife will accompany him, and he said they plan to spend the rest of their two-week vacation time traveling and visiting relatives.

Pastor's Reception

An informal reception will be held at East Lake Methodist Church immediately following the 8 p.m. service Sunday in honor of the church's new pastor, Dr. Walter C. Cowart and his wife.

Dr. Cowart

Dr. Cowart, who came to East Lake Church from the First Methodist Church, Elberton, has served pastorates in Alabama, Missouri and Florida. He served as an Army chaplain overseas for more than a year, and has been superintendent of Methodist missions in Europe and pastor of the American Church in Brussels, Belgium and of the Union American Church, San Juan, Puerto Rico.

He holds degrees from Birmingham Southern College, Yale Divinity School and Columbia University and has attended Vanderbilt University and the University of Chicago.

Members of East Lake Church's official board, the Women's Society of Christian Service and the Wesleyan Service Guild will be hosts at Sunday's reception, which will be held in the church recreation hall.

Crowe New Pastor

The Rev. Walter Miller Crowe, formerly of Greenville, Ala., will assume his duties Sunday as pastor of Cascade Road Presbyterian Church.

A graduate of Columbia Theological Seminary, the Rev. Crowe is a combat veteran of World War II.

He is a brother of the Rev. William Crowe, pastor of Roswell Presbyterian Church, and of the Rev. R. McFerran Crowe, who recently resigned the pastorate of North Avenue Presbyterian Church to become president of Belhaven College in Mississippi.

The Rev. Mr. Crowe and his wife will live in Cascade Road Church's manse, located at 1525 Boulevard Lorraine, SW.

A reception honoring the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Crowe will be held from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. Sunday in the church youth building at 2450 Cascade Rd., SW.

Mixson in New York

The Rev. Wendell H. Mixson, pastor of Unity Church of Christianity, will speak Sunday morning at the Unity Center of Practical Christianity in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, New York City.

Wendell Mixson

During the Rev. Mr. Mixson's absence, Blanche Blalock will speak at the 11 a.m. service Sunday at Unity Church on "The One Power." She also will speak briefly at the 5:30 p.m. twilight musical service.

Guest Ministers

Dr. Paul S. James, pastor of the Baptist Tabernacle, has announced the names of four ministers who will preach in his church during August, while Dr. James is on vacation.

Dr. Harold G. Sanders, pastor of First Baptist Church, Tallahassee, Fla., will be the preacher Sunday.

Dr. Courts Redford of Atlanta, executive secretary of the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board, will preach Aug. 8, and Aug. 15 the preacher will be Dr. Joe Miller, president of Truett-McConnell Junior College, Cleveland.

The Rev. Raymond Moore, pastor of First Baptist Church, Thomaston, will preach Aug. 22.

List 25 Transfers

A list of 25 communicants of Holy Trinity Episcopal Church, Decatur, who will transfer their membership to the newly organized Church of the Holy Cross in Southwest DeKalb County will be delivered to the new church Sunday.

R. S. Jansson, senior warden at Holy Trinity, will present the list to Bennie Eubanks, Holy Cross senior warden, at Holy Cross Church's 11 a.m. service.

The Rev. Harry Tisdale, rector of Holy Trinity Church, is priest-in-charge of Holy Cross Church, which is meeting temporarily in Southwest DeKalb High School on Candler Road. A building fund has been started and efforts are being made to locate a site for the new church. John M. Royall is chairman of the building committee.

Tent Revival

Evangelist L. P. Shaw has announced that he is conducting an old-fashioned tent revival and healing campaign at 2500 Bankhead Ave., NW., at 8 p.m. every night for an indefinite period. He is assisted by the Rev. Lola Gentry.

Special congregational singing is a feature of the program. The public is invited to attend.

Moore To Return

Bishop Arthur J. Moore, head of the Methodist Church in the Atlanta area, is expected to return to Atlanta Tuesday after a five-week mission in Europe. He is returning on the Queen Mary, which is scheduled to dock in New York Monday. From New York he will come to Atlanta by train.

'Clean-Up Party'

The Methodist Men's Club of Peachtree Road Methodist Church will sponsor a "clean-up" party from 2 to 4 p.m. Saturday, to be followed by a watermelon cutting for all church school members and their families from 4 to 5:30 p.m.

Purpose of the "clean-up" party is to clear off underbrush on a wooded area at the rear of the church property. The area is used for Boy Scout activities.

Evangelistic Services

A series of seven special evangelistic services will be held at Midway Presbyterian Church, Decatur, Sunday through Friday. The services are scheduled at 11 a.m. and 8 p.m. Sunday and at 8 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Dr. Bob S. Hodges, associate secretary of the General Council, Presbyterian Church, U.S., will be the preacher for the services. J. T. Lowry will lead the singing.

Dr. Hodges will preach at 11 a.m. Sunday on "The Christian Imperative" and at 8 p.m. on "The Call of Christ." The public is invited to attend the services.

Brustat To Lecture

Dr. August W. Brustat, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, Scarsdale, N.Y., will deliver two lectures in Atlanta next week under the sponsorship of the men's Club of Grace Lutheran Church. The lectures will be open to the public.

He will speak at 8 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday in the Life of Georgia Auditorium at the corner of Linden and West Peachtree Streets, NE. His subject Tuesday will be "The Communist Conspiracy" and Wednesday he will speak on "The Romance of Biblical Archaeology."

Dr. Brustat is a member of the editorial board of The American Lutheran magazine, the American Schools of Oriental Research, the American Institute of Archaeology and the Lutheran Academy for Scholarship.

Rev. Nysewander For Revival At Center Hill

The Rev. Dwight Nysewander, pastor of Epworth Methodist Church, will preach in revival services Sunday through Aug. 8 at Center Hill Methodist Church. Henry Grosh of the Atlanta Youth for Christ Assn. will lead the singing.

Services will be held at 11 a.m. and 8 p.m. Sundays and at 8 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

The Rev. Charles J. Reaves is pastor of Center Hill Church.

A Rhyme a Day

"The baby food industry is now a multi-million dollar annual business resulting from years of experimentation and research to find foods with appetite appeal as well as sound nourishment."—Trade note.

If someone can design a toy . . . a little child cannot destroy . . . shove up his nose . . . or in his ear . . . I certainly would like to hear . . . about it; and I'm not alone . . . for lots of others I have known . . . would welcome something that could not . . . be swallowed by a little tot.

Great sums of money have been spent . . . by people, trying to invent . . . a breakfast food that is complete . . . with vitamins the child should eat . . . but he will push such food aside . . . and from his high chair gently slide . . . to eat the mess of porridge that . . . is on the floor to feed the cat.

Young parents seldom are aware . . . of what is needed for the care . . . of children, and they shouldn't be . . . expected to; they can't foresee . . . the crazy things a child will do . . . like more experienced people who . . . have spent a great part of their lives . . . concealing scissors, butcher knives . . . rat poison, razor blades and matches . . . that hungry kids pour down their hatches.

1st Methodist Slates Revival

Instead of the usual one- or two-week revivals most Methodist churches have each year, First Methodist Church's pastor, Dr. Pierce Harris, decided it would be more effective to have a month-long revival with services on Sundays only.

Dr. Pierce Harris

August is traditionally "revival month" at First Methodist and Dr. Harris has announced that revival services for this year will begin at the 11 a.m. service Sunday when he preaches on "I Will Endeavor to Do—By the Help of God."

At 8 p.m. Sunday his sermon will be entitled "As for Me and My House."

Dr. Harris will preach for all the revival services. Harry Armstrong, the church's minister of music, will lead the congregational singing and the combined choir and men's chorus will provide special music.

News in Brief

The Rev. J. W. O. McKibben, superintendent of Atlanta - West District of the Methodist Church, will preach at 8 p.m. Sunday at Bethel Methodist Church. . . . A baptismal service is scheduled at Edgewood Baptist Church at 8 p.m. Sunday. . . . The Rev. Bruce Wilson, executive secretary of the Georgia Temperance League, will speak at 8 p.m. Sunday at Calvary Methodist Church. . . . The Rev. Leon Smith, pastor of Roswell Methodist Church, will preach at 8 p.m. Sunday at Sharon Methodist Church. . . . The Emory University summer chorus will sing Brahms' "Requiem" at 8:15 p.m. Sunday at Glenn Memorial Methodist Church. . . . The Rev. Clarence W. Whitley, associate pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, will preach at the church's 11 a.m. and 7:45 p.m. services Sunday. . . . The Rev. Fred L. Glisson, chaplain of Emory University Hospital, will preach at Collins Memorial Methodist Church at 8 p.m. Sunday. . . . Dr. Cecil Thompson of Columbia Theological Seminary, Decatur, will preach at 11 a.m. Sunday at Memorial Drive Presbyterian Church. . . . Chaplain W. C. Taggart of the Third Army Headquarters, Fort McPherson, will preach at West End Presbyterian Church at 11 a.m. Sunday.

New Jewish Congregation Is Named Beth El

Beth El is the name adopted by a group of persons seeking to organize a new Jewish congregation in the Atlanta area. The next meeting of the group is to be held at 8:15 p.m. Wednesday at the Atlanta Jewish Community Center, 1745 Peachtree Rd., NE, and persons interested in joining are invited to attend.

Plans for organizing the congregation have not yet been completed, but the group expects to become a modern conservative congregation. Irwin Krick is serving as temporary chairman of the group and Lee Krick is temporary secretary.

Tentative plans call for services to begin Sept. 3 and high holiday observances to begin with Rosh Hashanah, Sept. 27-29, and Yom Kippur, Oct. 6-7. Sunday school classes for children and adults also are tentatively scheduled for early fall.

Pierce Harris preaches at each service

Harry Armstrong leads a great chorus choir

Our Revival Meeting Time Is Here!

Some sophisticated people lift an eyebrow at the word "revival"—and think of them as "emotional extravaganzas," patronized by the ignorant and "emotionally unstable." But thousands of fine and leading citizens testify to what a revival has meant in their lives. Here at the First Methodist—the mother of Methodism in Atlanta—August is "Revival Meeting Time." With us, it is a tradition—a season of refreshment to which we look with eagerness. Congregations overflow the sanctuary, and glad voices are lifted. Joyous songs ring out. Homes are helped. Lives are strengthened. And every year a number of people "return unto the Lord"—and are forever different and better.

THE FIRST METHODIST CHOIR is famous over the South. Added to this choir for these revival services is our famous MEN'S CHORUS. Under Harry Armstrong's leadership, they will feature each service.

5 GREAT SUNDAYS--10 GREAT SERVICES!

Each Sunday morning and evening in August the theme will be evangelism. It is a simple one. It is to magnify the Lord—to emphasize the importance of religion in a person's life. If he has any—put it to work. If he has none—it is available.

START WITH US THIS SUNDAY—

11:00 A. M.—"I Will Endeavor So to do—By the Help of God"
(A sermon on the sanctity of the given word)

8:00 P. M.—"As For Me and My House . . ."
(A sermon on how Christianity demands a personal commitment)

Nursery for small children at all services!

Tell your friends—come yourself—let's make it a great month!

Sanctuary completely air-conditioned!

Newton Estates Baptists To Meet In Local School

Members of Newton Estates Baptist Church Sunday will begin using the facilities of Newton Estates School to accomodate their overflowing Sunday School classes. The school auditorium also will be used for morning and evening worship services. An attendance goal of 180 for the Sunday school has been set.

Plans are being made to construct a $70,000 educational building for the church. A goal of $500 has been set for Sunday's building fund offering.

The Rev. Rufus S. Monk, church pastor, has designated the day "Advance Sunday" and has announced that nine new Sunday school classes and three new departments will be organized. Eighteen new teachers will be added to the Sunday school staff, he said.
